2. The Debentures will have a currency of twenty years, be transferable by endorsement, and carry interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum from the 1st of January 1865, payable half-yearly, on the 30th June, and 31st December, at the Bank of Bengal.

3. The Loans are to be paid into the said Bank of Bengal in two instalments—that is, the first of forty per cent. on the 15th of September next, and the second of sixty per cent. on the 1st of November.

Final Report of the Central Committee of the late Agricultural Exhibition held in January 1864.

From J. A. CRAWFORD, Esq., Honorary Secretary to the Agricultural Exhibition, Calcutta, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 7th November 1863.)

I AM directed to forward herewith, for the information of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, a Report (which was unanimously adopted at a general meeting of the Central Committee on Thursday, the 5th instant,) on the progress made by the Committee in carrying out the arrangements for the Agricultural Show to be held in January next.

As the sum of Rupees 5,000 of the original grant of Rupees 10,000 was remitted to England for the purchase of iron hurdles, and now on their way out, I am directed to request that you will obtain the sanction of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to a further sum of Rupees 10,000 being placed at the disposal of the Committee in order to complete the arrangements now in course of progress.

BENGAL AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITION OF 1864.

Report of the Central Committee of the Agricultural Exhibition of 1864 on the arrangements made in furtherance of the objects of the Exhibition.

To THE HON'BLE CECIL BEADON,
Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,
Calcutta the 7th November 1863.

The Committee appointed by your Honor to carry out the arrangements for the proposed Agricultural Exhibition of 1864 has now the honor to submit a Report on the result which has hitherto attended its labors.

2. It was but natural that an undertaking so novel in its character, and hardly understood by those for whose more immediate benefit it is intended, should be at the commencement beset with many difficulties; the Committee, however, felt convinced that if the real scope and object of the Exhibition were fully explained, and the hearty co-operation of Native Landholders enlisted, a successful result of this first experiment might confidently be expected.

3. With this aim steadily in view printed copies of Prize Lists in English, Oordoo, and Bengalee were forwarded to each of the Local Committees for distribution. English Prize Lists and the Rules attached to them were likewise forwarded to the Governments of Madras, Bombay, Ceylon, the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and to the Commissioner of Oude, and care was taken to make the proposed Exhibition known in England to many of the principal manufacturers of Agricultural Machinery. In order to give every possible publicity large hand-bills have been printed in English, Oordoo, and Bengalee, copies of which, through the courtesy of the Agent of the Eastern Bengal Railway and the Traffic Manager of the East Indian Railway Company, have been conspicuously posted at every Railway Station on their respective lines, and a Notification containing all details as to articles admissible at the Exhibition, with the number and value of the Prizes offered for each description, has been sent to the Secretaries to the Governments of Madras, Ceylon, Bombay, the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Oude, with a view to obtaining the permission of the respective Governments to its publication in the Official Gazette.

4. The Committee is much indebted to Moulvie Abdool Luteef and Abdool Ruwoof, discourses relative to the undertaking having been prepared by them in the Vernacular and printed for distribution among Zemindars; and the Local Committees have been requested to spare no pains in fully explaining to the influential Residents and Landholders of their Districts the objects for which the Exhibition was determined upon, and the benefits which must result therefrom to all, directly or indirectly, interested in the progress and improvement of agricultural pursuits in this country.

5. The Committee has now the satisfaction to state that its endeavors to create an interest in the proposed undertaking have been perfectly successful. The proceedings of the Local Committees, which find a permanent record in their publication in the Government Gazette, bear not only ample testimony to the spirit in which the requisitions of the Central Committee have been received, but they also afford a pleasing proof of the support held out to the undertaking by the offer on the part of private individuals of extra prizes, aggregating up to the present moment nearly Rupees 12,000.

6. The several Governments above referred to have promised every support in their power, and the Chief Commissioner of Oude has intimated that a collection of the agricultural products, &c., of Oude will be forwarded to the forthcoming Exhibition under the special charge of Dr. Bonavia. Advices have also been received from England of the despatch of a variety of machinery which is to be exhibited on behalf of the manufacturers through their Local Agents in Calcutta.

7. The question as to the probable support which this first experiment is likely to receive having thus reached a practical solution, the Central Committee lost no time in maturing such different arrangements as appeared to be necessary not only in the success of the Exhibition itself, but which were also consistent with a due consideration for the interests of intending exhibitors and their attendants. On these arrangements the Central Committee now proceeds to report under their respective heads.

8. Exhibition Yard.—Your Honor having been pleased to place at the Committee's disposal the whole of the grounds adjoining the Belvedere compound to the southward, the same was surveyed and a Plan prepared, showing the manner in which it has been proposed to lay it out, and the space allotted to the different descriptions of Live Stock, Machinery, and Implements, and Agricultural Produce, as described in the Prize List. The Plan likewise shows the position assigned to each class and the site of the sheds necessary for the reception of such objects as require protection against exposure. This Plan having been approved by your Honor, an Estimate was drawn up of the probable requirements in material for the construction of sheds, and tenders being invited for the same a contract has been concluded for the required supply. To prevent delay and to ensure the delivery of material according to samples furnished a Special Superintendent was appointed with orders to commence at the work at once, and at this moment the boundaries of the grounds, the different avenues, and the exact position of each shed are marked out, the necessary drains are in course of construction, and one of the sheds is completed. The arrangements made leave no doubt that the whole of the sheds and enclosures, as well as the platforms required for heavy machinery, will be ready in the course of next month.

9. Machinery in Motion.—As a great variety of machines is expected to arrive in time for the Show, the Committee is of opinion that, in order to afford visitors a better opportunity of judging of their real merits, each machine ought to be exhibited in working order, if not during the whole week the Exhibition is open, at all events on the day when the Judges are to pronounce their awards. Arrangements have therefore been made for assigning special localities to the different descriptions of machinery. Fixed steam machinery will be in one part of the Yard, Hydraulic machines close to the tanks, whilst a distinct plot of ground is allotted to such as is worked by cattle. To admit of practical trials of all such agricultural machines as are moving by their own steam power a special slip of land verging on the southern part of the Maidan has been selected. The Committee will provide shafting and steam for all fixed machinery requiring such appliances, but exhibitors must supply the necessary belting at their own expense.

10. Transmission of Articles to Calcutta.—To secure to contributors every facility and advantage in forwarding goods from the interior for exhibition, the Committee addressed the Offices named in the margin with a view to ascertain the extent of assistance they might be disposed to afford in the conveyance of Live Stock, Machinery, and Produce from the Provinces to Calcutta. Mr. Palmer, the Agent of the East Indian Railway Company, assures the Committee that he will do what he can consistently with the interest of the Company, but as nothing definite has been settled yet, the Committee is at present unable to make any arrangements for the transmission of such contributions as will have to be forwarded by the East Indian Railway. Hopes are, however, entertained that the Directors of the Board in England will view the application in a more liberal spirit, and that the next Mail will bring information of the same concessions being accorded to the Committee as has been done in England and France to the Commissioners for the Exhibition of 1855 and 1862. The Committee, however, record with great satisfaction the handsome manner in which the applications have been met by Mr. Prestage, Agent to the Eastern Bengal Railway Company, and Mr. Penderton, Agent to the Calcutta and South-Eastern Railway Company. Both these gentlemen accord free passages for all Live Stock, Machinery, and Implements, and Produce, provided that such be accompanied by a Certificate of the Local Committees, stating that the specimens are intended for the Agricultural Show. Mr. McLardy, the Secretary to the Ganges Steam Navigation Company, regrets that the Company is not in a position to grant free passages, and the Secretary to the India General Steam Navigation Company has not as yet favored the Committee with a reply. The Committee is now devising some plan by which it is hoped to attain the object in view.

without the intervention of River Steam Navigation Companies.

11. Transmission of Goods by Seafaring Steamers.—The Committee has likewise applied to the Directors of the Peninsular and Oriental Company in London, and in reply was informed that “the Company desire to afford every facility in their power towards the object of the Show, but must decline to take Live Stock. They will, however, convey Implements and Produce at half freight if there be room enough on board, and provided such articles would not deprive the Company of the opportunity of carrying other goods at full rates.” With such conditions attached it would be extremely dangerous to place any reliance upon the assistance to be expected from that Company, especially at a season when their Steamers are already overcrowded with passengers. The Committee therefore applied to the Agent of the Messageries Impériales. Mr. Lamouroux at once offered a free passage for everything except Live Stock, which he very naturally objects to as likely to interfere with the comfort of passengers on board the Steamers.

12. It is, however, with particular pleasure that the Committee bring to your Honor's notice

|---------------------------------------|------------------|
| Messrs. Jardine, Skinner and Company. | the liberal man- |
| “ Apcar and Company. | ner in which the |
| “ Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Com- | gentlemen noted |

come forward to afford material assistance in the conveyance of goods from out-Ports, and intended for exhibition. Messrs. Jardine, Skinner and Company offer free passages for anything that can be taken without much inconvenience from Penang and Singapore on board their Steamers River and Clan Alpine. Messrs. Apcar likewise promise free conveyance of all Live Stock, Implements, Produce, &c., in their China Steamers; and Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company, as Agents for the Burmah India Steam Navigation Company, undertake to provide space, free of cost, to the extent of twenty-five tons for Implements and Produce, and for twenty head of cattle in each of the four Steamers from Moulmein and intermediate Ports, and the same privilege by each of the two Vessels which touch at Madras and the intermediate Ports.

13. Landing and Transport of Heavy Machinery.—The next subject requiring attention had reference to the landing and transport of heavy machinery, as explained in our Secretary's letter to Government, dated the 25th September. Under the orders conveyed in Mr. Secretary Eden's letter No. 987T., dated the 6th ultimo, Mr. Dowleane placed himself in communication with the Head of the Ordnance Department, the Master Attendant, the Superintendent of the Government Dock-Yard at Kidderpore, and the Presidency Executive Commissariat Officer, and from all prompt assurances of aid were received. The Commissary of Ordnance places at the disposal of the Committee the crane at Baboo's Ghaut, capable of lifting packages to the weight of three tons, and also the necessary arsenal carts and trucks for conveying the machinery to Belvedere. The only condition attached is that requisitions may be sent in two days previously, and a sufficient number of hands provided to assist, as the Commissary of Ordnance is very naturally anxious that the assistance thus afforded should not interfere with the current work of his Department.

14. The Officiating Master Attendant has placed the means and appliances attached to his Department at the Committee's disposal. They consist of a heave up-boat and a crane capable of lifting two tons, and the Superintendent of the Government Dock-Yard offers to land machinery by the Kidderpore crane up to fifteen tons' weight, and to lend trucks for transporting it to Allipore. Every arrangement has therefore been made to afford exhibitors facilities which, whilst diminishing the risk incurred in landing heavy machinery, will greatly expedite its disembarkation, and materially assist in its transport to the Exhibition Yard.

15. Platform for heavy Steam Machines.—Considering the weight of the machines which will be exhibited, working under their own steam power, the Committee were of opinion that it would be hardly fair to put exhibitors to the entire expense of erecting the necessary platforms, and that assistance in the shape of bricks (which afterwards might be turned to account for the Suburban roads) would not be out of place. At this moment it is impossible to say what the eventual requirements in this respect may be; but the Committee feel great pleasure in bringing to notice the prompt aid afforded by the Department of Public Works, a requisition made during the holidays to the Superintending Engineer, South-Eastern Circle, under the authority of Government, conveyed in Mr. Secretary Eden's letter No. 987T., dated the 6th ultimo, for 20,000 bricks, having been met within twenty-four hours.

16. Circular to Committees.—Everything having thus been done which, in the opinion of the Committee, might tend to facilitate the transmission, transport, and exhibition of contributions to the forthcoming Show, it appeared desirable that some plan should be devised for ensuring uniform Returns, in order to enable the Committee to carry out a variety of other arrangements for which due provision must be made. With this view a Circular was addressed on the 15th of September to the several Local Committees, embodying certain Rules for their guidance, and furnishing a form of Return for all contributions intended to be forwarded from their respective Districts for exhibition. The object of these Returns is—

1st.—To ascertain the probable requirements for space in each class.

2ndly.—To ascertain the number of each description of animals which will have to be fed.

3rdly.—To provide Moudie Shops for Native servants coming in charge of Live Stock and Implements.

4thly.—To prepare the Tickets to be attached to each specimen on view in accordance with the Rules laid down in the Prize List; and 5thly.—To make arrangements for the publication of a catalogue to be ready on the day of the opening of the Exhibition.

17. Feeding of Animals.—In anticipation of these Returns the Central Committee has already taken action. Advertisements have been published in the Exchange Gazette and in two local Native papers, inviting tenders for feeding of animals by contract. The contract will stipulate the quantity and quality of food for each animal according to samples in the Committee's possession, and these details will be printed in English and the Vernacular on cards, one of which will be handed to each servant in charge of cattle, so that he may know exactly what he is entitled to receive from the contractor.

18. Conservancy.—Arrangements have likewise been made for the proper conservancy of the Show Yard. The sheds in which animals are exhibited will be cleaned twice a day, and the Magistrate of the 24-Pergunnahs has kindly promised to have carts in attendance to remove stable litter and other refuse every morning and evening. All such sheds are being provided with drains, and a pump will be set up near the large tank to supply water for flushing them.

19. Moodie Shops.—As it is possible that there will be a large number of attendants coming in charge of Cattle and Implements from the Provinces who may be strangers in Calcutta, it appeared to the Committee desirable that provision should be made for securing to them the means of obtaining their daily requirements of food at a convenient place and at fixed rates, so as to protect them against extortion. The piece of ground which seemed admirably suited for this purpose is that to the west of the Show Yard and on the other side of the Allipore road. The Committee therefore applied to Brigadier-General Showers, C. B., who at once complied with the request, and obligingly placed at the disposal of the Committee a large slip of the Allipore parade ground, with the permission to erect Moodie Shops thereon. The ground has since been measured, and whilst admitting of the construction of shops on either side, will still leave in the centre ample room for a double line of carriages, and thus be the means of keeping the Allipore road always clear. An advertisement published in two of the local Native papers intimates that the Committee is prepared to let to intending contractors the ground in question for the erection of Moodie Shops according to a Plan to be seen in the Joint Secretary's Office, and that the price of all articles of food therein exposed for sale will be regulated by a fixed Merck, or Price Current.

20. Tickets.—To guard against pressure of work at the last moment it appeared desirable that several of the minor details should at once be carried out. Tickets of admission to the Exhibition have therefore already been printed, and arrangements made for their sale a fortnight prior to the opening of the Exhibition. The Tickets to admit exhibitors' servants are likewise ready, and those which will have to be attached to each specimen on view, with the details prescribed by the rules of the Prize List, are in the Printer's hands, so that only the blanks will have to be filled up on the receipt of Returns from Local Committees.

21. It is impossible at the present stage of proceedings to say what will actually be exhibited at the Show. ■ much depends upon the size of the various machines offered for exhibition, and the space required for them. The Committee may, however, mention that, judging from communications already received from intending exhibitors both in India and from England, the whole of the space that has been marked out on the Plan for various purposes will be all taken up.

22. Bearing in mind that the forthcoming Exhibition is a strictly agricultural one, the Committee has been obliged to decline several prizes offered by private individuals for manufactured goods. Specimens of silk or cotton cloth are only admissible as samples of the superior quality of fabric obtainable from a particular kind of raw silk or cotton, but the prizes can only be awarded to the produce itself, and not to the article manufactured therefrom.

23. In only two instances has the policy of the Rule, which provides that each specimen of Live Stock, or Machinery, or Produce intended for exhibition should be the property of the exhibitor, or be the produce of his Estate, been questioned, on the ground that this might deter many people from contributing some really fine specimens which they might obtain on loan and forward to the Exhibition at their own expense. Considering that the avowed object of the Exhibition is to promote improvement in the breed of cattle and in the productions of the soil, and to introduce a better class of agricultural implements, and seeing that the prizes have been fixed on a liberal scale, with the special view of thereby affording to successful competitors the means of purchasing at the Exhibition such cattle, implements, and appliances by which the contemplated improvement can be effected, it is clear that these objects would be frustrated were the prizes awarded to any one but the actual producer himself. The Central Committee has therefore declined to make any modification of that Rule.

24. The Returns from the several Local Committees are expected in the early part of next month, when the Central Committee hopes to report further progress.

J. A. CRAWFORD, }
A. M. DOWLEANS, } Joint Honorary Secretaries.

From J. A. CRAWFORD and A. M. DOWLEANS, Esqrs., Honorary Secretaries, Bengal Agricultural Exhibition, to P. R. COCKFRIE, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, —(dated the 5th May 1864.)

WE HAVE the honor to forward herewith the final Report as adopted at a Meeting of the Central Committee held at the Metcalfe Hall on 2nd instant, together with the Reports of the Judges in the various Sections, and a Statement of the Accounts, which, we are desirous to request, you will lay before His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Report of the Central Committee on the results of the Bengal Agricultural Exhibition of 1864.

THE Committee, in their Report dated the 7th November 1863, explained the arrangements made by them in furtherance of the objects of the Exhibition, and they have now the honor to report on the practical results attained.

2. It is not surprising that an undertaking so novel in its character, and depending for support chiefly upon a class of people who did not realise the true scope and object of the Exhibition, should have failed at first in calling forth that active co-operation which the Committee were anxious to secure. An impression seemed to prevail that one of the primary objects in view was to secure either donations towards the expenses of the Show, or subscriptions of local prizes, and as all sums similarly contributed were published in the Gazette with the names of the donors, each day's dawn brought from the several Local Committees a long list of monetary contributors. The natural result was that after a short time the Central Committee found themselves in this difficulty, that whilst numerous prizes were offered for a variety of local productions, it was extremely doubtful whether any of the specimens to which such special prizes were to be awarded would be forthcoming.

3. The Central Committee, therefore, deemed it advisable to adopt every means by which the erroneous impression which appeared to exist could be removed, and they requested the Presidents of the several Local Committees to explain fully to the Native gentlemen residing within their respective Circles that the primary object of the Exhibition was to bring together for comparison and competition from every part of the country specimens of local productions, as well of Live Stock and Agricultural Produce as of Agricultural Implements, and that contributions of such specimens would be far more acceptable than money donations or subscriptions for special prizes.

4. These efforts on the part of Local Committees proved perfectly successful, and the Returns of specimens tendered for contribution on the part of Native producers and others were such that the Central Committee were under the necessity of making arrangements for additional space, in order to admit of the exhibition of the varied contributions in their respective classes.

5. In addition to the prospect of a full representation of the products of Bengal thus secured, the Benares Committee intimated their intention of contributing a large number of Live Stock from the North-Western Provinces, and lists were received from the Committees in British Burmah and Province Wellesley, comprising valuable contributions of both Live Stock and Agricultural Produce which it was proposed to send to the forthcoming Exhibition. Similar communications were received from Madras, and included large and most interesting collections of Agricultural Implements and Produce, as well as some Cattle forwarded by His Highness the Maharajah of Travancore, His Highness the Maharajah of Vizianagram, and several European gentlemen, who appeared to take a lively interest in the undertaking.

6. The Returns received with regard to Native Agricultural Implements, as well as the applications from local importers of English Machinery for allotment of space, accompanied by a full description of the Machines and Implements they proposed exhibiting, embraced so large a number, and so great a variety, that, in addition to the space originally reserved for that Department of the Show, it was found necessary to appropriate two other sheds which were intended for the special accommodation of Prize Cattle.

7. These demands on the space at their disposal gave an assurance to the Committee that the proposed Exhibition would consist not only of a worthy representation of Agricultural Products of Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, Oude, Madras, British Burmah, and the Straits Settlements, and of the Agricultural Implements, &c., continuing in use in their countries, but that it would also comprise a complete collection of Machinery and Implements which are in common use in England and America with such decided success as to afford an undeniable proof of the advantages resulting from the practical application of modern science to the purposes of Agriculture.

8. With such satisfactory prospects before them the Committee now turned their attention to the best means of securing the attainment of the real benefits expected to result from the first Bengal Agricultural Exhibition. It appeared that in the first place it was of paramount importance to induce Native Agriculturists to come to see the collections of products gathered from various parts of India and compare their respective merits, as also the Implements used in their cultivation, and to witness the improvements that are effected by the application of various Machines and Implements unknown to Native Cultivators, but already most successfully used in Europe.

9. Another and most important point was to induce Zemindars and others to avail themselves of the opportunity of comparing the Cattle bred in various parts of India, whether such were the progeny of animals peculiar to Districts, or the result of cross-breeds, or imported Cattle. Considering that in any case, in the first instance, the proper selection of breeding Cattle has the most beneficial effects on the progeny raised from them; and secondly, that the nature of pasture available in each locality exercises a powerful influence upon the condition of animals, and that such varies according to soil and atmospheric causes, the Exhibition would afford the means of judging how far Cattle bred in one District could, in their opinion, thrive in another, and the extent to which cross-breeds, being the progeny of imported animals, improved Local Live Stock, or the reverse; and lastly, the beneficial effects on the young stock in breeding from properly selected Cattle as compared with the miserable results coming under daily notice when breeding stock is carried on without any reference to the requisite essentials on either side. It was therefore particularly desirable that those more individually interested in Agricultural pursuits should be induced to come down to the Exhibition and judge for themselves.

10. All these points being fully explained by the Local Committees the most hearty co-operation ensued. Zemindars from all parts of the country intimated their intention of visiting the Exhibition, and many Native gentlemen of wealth from the Mofussil applied for space whereon to pitch tents for the accommodation of their retinues. Several of the most influential Talookdars of Oude decided upon coming down to Calcutta, whilst a number of Burmese made up their mind to accompany the contributions from British Burmah to the forthcoming Show. Efforts were likewise made to send down large numbers of Ryots at the request of private individuals, whilst the British Indian Association set the example of voting a special sum to pay for the free admission of a certain number of Ryots who might be disposed to come to Calcutta for the purpose of seeing the Exhibition. This example was soon followed by several Native gentlemen of this City, who forwarded subscriptions towards the same object.

11. The support thus received from every quarter having removed any doubt that might have existed as to the result of the undertaking, the Committee, with a view to make due provision for the requirements of every branch of the Exhibition, deemed it advisable that there should be a division of labor. Its numbers, therefore, constituted themselves into Sub-Committees, undertaking the special supervision and control of the following Departments, viz.:—

The Conservancy of the Yard.

Police arrangements.

Machinery and Implements.

Horses, Ponies, Asses, and Mules.

Bulls, Cows, Buffaloes, Sheep, and Goats.

Poultry, Pigeons, and Rabbits.

Produce of the Soil.

Produce of the Dairy, the Pen, and the Hive; and Decorations, Music, and Refreshments.

12. But, notwithstanding this distribution of duties, the Sub-Committees experienced considerable difficulties in completing their arrangements so as to have every thing ready on the day of opening. This arose chiefly from the circumstance that the bulk of the contributions from the several Committees did not reach the Exhibition until within a few days of its opening, whilst a large number of articles arrived only in the course of the following week. Moreover many packages were received without any outer mark of the place whence sent, whilst their contents were, in many instances, either indistinctly labelled, or not labelled at all, so that it was almost impossible to identify them. This was more particularly the case in the Produce Department, for, as specimens could only be forwarded in such a manner as the limited means of the District allowed, some were received in tin canisters, some in small boxes, and others in bottles, bags, jars, &c., and in a great many cases the original label either came off, or became quite obliterated. The consequence was that, although after much trouble most of the specimens themselves were identified, it was impossible to get any clue as to the place from which they had been despatched.

13. The Committee also made arrangements for the publication of a classified catalogue of all the contributions on view, and each Sub-Committee undertook the compilation of its own particular Section. In order to render such catalogue available to visitors on the very day of the opening of the Exhibition, it was determined that the same should be compiled from the Returns forwarded by the several Local Committees in anticipation of the receipt of the contributions themselves, and be printed forthwith. Difficulties, however, arose which prevented these arrangements being carried out in toto, for it was found that many of the Agricultural Implements entered in the Returns under a particular heading did not correspond with the classification laid down in the Committee's Circular, whilst several specimens of Live Stock, such as, for instance, eighty horses arrived on the last two days preceding the Exhibition, of which the Committee received no advice until the animals were actually in the Exhibition Yard. Others again, which it was the intention of contributors to send to the Exhibition, were never despatched, or substituted by animals coming within a different classification.

14. All these drawbacks necessarily delayed the issue of the printed catalogue, whilst that portion of it which related to Produce, and which was compiled upon the strength of Returns from Local Committees, owing to the causes explained in a preceding paragraph, presented the singular anomaly that many specimens mentioned in the catalogue actually could not be found, whilst there was a variety of others of which no mention whatever was made in it.

15. Though it is undeniable that these various drawbacks entailed much unnecessary trouble upon the several Sub-Committees, and had the effect of somewhat retarding the labors of the Judges, yet it is but fair to make due allowance for the difficulties which must have been experienced by the several Local Committees in bringing together and forwarding the contributions from their respective Districts. It must be remembered that in the majority of cases Local Committees had to time the despatch of the contributions from their Districts according to the available means of transport, and that, in most instances, such contributions had to be forwarded in the original package in which received. It was therefore impossible to avoid some confusion, and the same will occur even in a future, unless the facilities of inland transport shall have considerably increased, and the means for landing heavy Machinery be better adapted to the requirement of the occasion.

16. The Exhibition was duly opened on the appointed day, and the contributions on view were arranged in three great Classes, viz., Live Stock, Machinery and Implements, and Produce, and comprised—

LIVE STOCK.

- 117 Bulls and Cows bred in the Lower Provinces, in the North-Western Provinces, in various parts of India, imported English Cattle, and cross-breeds.
- 34 Pairs of Draught Cattle from various parts of India.
- 29 Buffaloes— Bulls and Cows.
- 4 Pairs of Draught Buffaloes.
- 20 Rams, Ewes, and Wethers.
- 16 Imported Sheep.
- 24 Goats and Buck-Goats.
- 146 Horses, comprising thorough breeds, Arabs, Brood-Mares, Colts, Fillies, Hackney Mares, and Geldings and Ponies.
- 2 Mules.
- 435 Head of Poultry, comprising Game and Chittagong Fowls, Fowls imported and bred in India, Guinea Fowls, Bantams, Capons, Geese, Ducks, and Turkeys.
- 8 Rabbits; and
- 91 Pigeons.

MACHINERY AND IMPLEMENTS.

- 542 Varieties of Machines and Implements, comprising fixed and moveable Steam-Engines; Steam Cultivators; Hoeing, Drilling, and Sowing Machines; Irrigating Machines worked by Steam, Wind, and Cattle power; Brick Machines; Fibre preparing Machines; Cotton Gins; Tea-making Machines;

Oil, Rice, and Flour Mills; Looms; Machinery, together with numerous specimens of Implements used for the purpose of Agriculture, the Farm Yard, and the Dairy.

PRODUCE.

- 2,034 Specimens of Produce, comprising Cereals, Pulses, Tubers, Fibres, Cottons, Silk, Dyes, Oil Seeds, Tobacco, Teas, Coffee, and Sugar.

17. It does not come within the province of the Central Committee to offer any opinion on the merits of the collection on view, but they may mention that not less than

- 577 Specimens of Live Stock,
- 93 " " Machinery,
- 192 " " Agricultural Products

obtained money prizes aggregating Rupees 30,260, whilst several others were awarded either Medals, or Certificates of Honorable Mention.

18. In noticing the Reports of the Judges on their respective Sections, copies of which are annexed to this Report, the Committee desire to express their sense of obligation to the gentlemen who so kindly undertook the duty at a very short notice. Though these Reports are highly interesting and instructive, they are not so complete as it is desirable they should be, inasmuch as several of the most important Machines, such as Cotton Gins, Flour and Rice Mills, and several others, from unforeseen causes, were not in a sufficiently forward state to be exhibited in working order, and have had to be passed over by the Judges. In another section two of the Judges were absent, whilst the third one suddenly fell ill and was therefore unable to attend. But with these exceptions the Reports form a valuable record of the merits of a number of specimens that came within the particular observation of the Judges, and the suggestions, which are the result of a practical acquaintance with the subject, will prove of great advantage on any future occasion.

19. Before entering upon the financial results of the Exhibition the Committee wish to draw attention to the powerful aid they have received from the parties named in the margin, whose hearty co-operation has been the means of securing a large collection of Live Stock, Agricultural Machinery, and Produce. Whilst the Committee thus take an opportunity of publicly acknowledging the services rendered in furtherance of the object in view, they have awarded to each of the parties abovenamed a Silver Medal in commemoration of the first Bengal Agricultural Exhibition.

20. The Committee have likewise awarded a Medal to the British Indian Association for its co-operation in inducing wealthy Zemindars and others to send down their Ryots to see the Exhibition. The Committee were also of opinion that

- Government of the North-Western Provinces.
- Government of the Straits Settlements.
- Chief Commissioner of Orissa.
- Chief Commissioner of British Burmah.
- The Madras Committee.
- Mr. Hunter, Madras.
- W. S. Halcy, Esq., Secretary, Benares Committee.
- E. Fowler, Esq., Secretary, Rangoon Committee.
- His Highness the Maharajah of Travancore.
- His Highness the Maharajah of Vizianagram.
- The Maharajah of Benares.
- The Hon'ble Rajah Devaraj Sing.
- Rai Narain Doss.
- Rai Nursing Doss.
- Raboo Damsuda Doss.
- Aishwarya Narain Sing.
- Mormah Kelaetollah, Assam.

a similar distinction was equally due to Messrs. B. C. Lepage and Co., Messrs. T. B. Thomson and Co., Messrs. Barry, Smith and Co., Messrs. Jessop and Co., and B. Prootwich, Esq., who displayed great enterprise in indenting from England for a large assortment of Machinery and Implements for the special purpose of exhibiting them at the Agricultural Show.

21. The Committee would also tender their hearty thanks to the Heads of Departments and Officers named in the margin, who rendered most valuable aid; indeed, without the assistance received from them it is very doubtful whether a great portion of the Machines could have been landed and conveyed to the Yard in time for the opening of the Exhibition.

22. The various Local Committees throughout Bengal have exerted themselves with praiseworthy zeal, and the result of their exertions must be as gratifying to them as it is to the Committee to bear witness to their successful labors.

23. It is somewhat difficult to state with accuracy the actual number of people who visited the Exhibition. Computing it by the sale of tickets of admission there must have been 42,348 paying visitors, but this includes season ticket-holders, who, it may be presumed, visited the Exhibition Yard more than once. On the last day, on which the visitors were admitted free of charge, an account was kept of those passing the entrance gates, and the Returns showed the surprising number of 26,419. It may, therefore, be safely assumed that fully 70,000 people visited the Exhibition; and if it be considered that it comprised a great number of Natives from the Mofussil, it affords a most undeniable proof of the interest which the undertaking created among a class of people to whom the real scope and object of the Exhibition was unknown, and who at first looked upon it with suspicion, and with an apprehension that the Agricultural Show was merely the cloak for devising some means of additional taxation, or had some other hidden object in view.

24. Considering the variety of classes, castes, and respective disposition of character of the visitors, it is extremely gratifying to the Central Committee to state that there was not a single instance in which the interference of the Police was required. It is true crowds very often congregated at particular places, and that in these places there was occasionally a great pressure. This was particularly the case around the Machine Sheds, where visitors appeared to have been most anxious to get a sight of the practical working of Machines of the existence of which they had no previous conception. This circumstance alone speaks highly in favor of the interest excited by the Exhibition.

25. Although the whole of the Implements, Produce, &c., were exhibited in open sheds on mere platforms, and without any special protection, but few complaints were preferred about missing articles. In fact, the only claims made were for a few specimens of manufactured silk, cotton cloths, and a shawl. The former were missed on the day of the Flower Show, and the latter is supposed to have been taken away by mistake, another shawl having been found in another shed; the owner of which cannot be ascertained, and which as yet remains unclaimed.

26. It affords the Committee particular satisfaction to state that during the whole time the Exhibition was open not a single accident occurred within the Yard. Considering the ferocity of several of the Cattle surrounded by crowds of spectators, and roused by the sound of the Bands which played on the grounds, every precaution was taken for properly securing the animals within their stalls, and though some of them did at times, in spite of all precautions to the contrary, manage to get loose, they were almost instantly caught without much difficulty. One buffalo bull, however, which appeared to have gone mad, managed to get loose from its shed, but fortunately ran straight out of the compound. In its onward course it came upon a horse which it gored to death. Its further progress was, however, soon arrested, it having been shot in one of the southern Suburbs.

27. The Committee will now proceed to the financial result of the Exhibition. From the Statement which is annexed it will be observed that the total receipts from every source, including the advance of Rupees 30,000 from the Government of India, amounted to Rupees 1,21,927-1-9 against an expenditure of Rupees 1,16,540-10-1, leaving a cash balance of Rupees 5,386-7-8 in the hands of the the Committee as shown in the margin. To this balance has, however, to be added a sum of about Rupees 14,700 outstanding assets now in the course of realisation, so that the total sum which the Committee will be able to return to Government will amount to Rupees 20,000, reducing the actual cost of the undertaking to Rupees 30,000, for which it will be necessary to apply for a grant to the Government of India.

28. With regard to the receipts the Committee would observe that their anticipations have been fully realised. Considering the novelty of the undertaking, the great aim of which was to interest in it the Natives of this country, it must be admitted that the fact of the sale of admission tickets having produced a sum of not less than Rupees 40,304-10-3, all of which nearly was obtained during the first week of the Exhibition, affords an undeniable proof of that aim having been attained, whilst the liberal subscriptions for Extra Prizes and donations towards the expenses of the Exhibition, amounting to Rupees 20,891-8, show the spirit with which the public have supported the undertaking, and the Committee have particular pleasure in offering their warmest thanks to the respective donors for their liberality.

29. The Committee regret to say that the expenditure has considerably exceeded the original estimate, but this has been unavoidable. As this was the first attempt at getting up an Exhibition in which, when organised and carried out, were to be collected together the pick of the various kinds of Live Stock from the different Districts of India, each in its class—the best samples of the Agricultural Produce of the country in their several sections and series—and specimens of all the different Machines and Implements to aid the Agriculturist in the successful cultivation of his land which the skill of the machinist and mechanic could produce, all to be contributed by private individuals—and, as the great object in view was to induce Natives interested in the development of the Agricultural resources of the country to come and see the collection, it became the duty of the Committee to give the widest publicity to the proposed Exhibition, as also to afford exhibitors every possible aid and facility, especially to those who offered to import and exhibit a variety of valuable Machinery commonly employed in Europe in Agricultural operations, but the use of which was neither known nor understood in this country.

30. In furtherance of these views pamphlets, discourses, and prize lists were printed in the Bengalee, Oordoo, and Persian languages for distribution throughout Bengal; hand-bills in English and in two Native languages were posted at all the Railway Stations of the East Indian, Eastern Bengal, and South-Eastern Railways, and advertisements relating to the Exhibition were published in the English and Native Newspapers, all of which, together with the printing of a catalogue, involved an expenditure of nearly Rupees 3,000. A great portion of this might be avoided on a future occasion.

31. It was also evident that, in order to enable visitors to judge of the merits of the various Machines requiring steam power, it was necessary to exhibit them at work. It would have been quite impracticable to allow each exhibitor to make his own arrangements in that respect, because it would have led to general confusion, and resulted in a display of chimnies, funnels, boilers, and steam pipes, which each would have set up in accordance with his own requirements, regardless of appearance or safety to the adjoining bamboo sheds. The Committee therefore deemed it advisable to follow the plan of the Exhibition in London and Paris by providing steam power for those requiring it, thereby limiting the expense to which exhibitors would be put to the mere cost of fitting, and the setting up of the Machines on proper platforms, for which latter even bricks, sorkhy, and lime were placed at their disposal free of charge.

32. This arrangement, however, necessitated the construction of special sheds, which, with a view to guard against the accident of fire, had to be covered with corrugated iron. To provide the required steam power boilers had to be fixed, a chimney built, steam pipes laid down, and shafting put up, all of which, together with the cost of coal consumed, absorbed the large sum of Rupees 37,199-12-5, and indeed the expenses under that head would have been still greater had not the boilers and a large portion of the shafting been obligingly lent for the occasion. The sheds themselves have been sold to the Magistrate of Alipore for the mere cost of the material used in their construction, leaving a difference of nearly Rupees 26,000, which must be considered as the expenditure out of pocket.

33. It appears to the Committee that, with the exception of sheds required for the protection of Machinery, all other expense in connection therewith might be greatly reduced. It is but right that Government should give every assistance in its power to bring prominently to the notice of the Indian Agriculturist the means and appliances which are being used with such decided advantages in Europe, still there must be a prescribed limit to such assistance. Exhibitors do not show Machinery merely for the purpose of adding to the display of the Exhibition, but with the view of its ultimate sale. If, therefore, Government provides the means for the landing of such Machinery and its conveyance to the Exhibition grounds, and moreover places at the disposal of the Exhibitor the material required for the construction of platforms, &c., it may be fairly assumed that all the aid that could reasonably be expected has been accorded. To exhibit Machinery at work is entirely a matter for the consideration of the exhibitor, whose object it is to get a purchaser for the same. But as in the arrangements for providing steam power it is necessary that a uniform system should be adopted, the best plan would be to have a general contractor who would undertake the setting of boilers, laying of piping, erection of chimney, and fixing of a shafting, charging a certain rate or percentage to all exhibitors requiring steam power. Could this plan have been adopted on the present occasion it would have reduced the expense in connection with Machinery by fully Rupees 12,000.

34. A heavy expenditure has likewise been incurred in the adaptation of the grounds to the purposes of the Exhibition. Amongst this the cost of the gates of admission, of turnstiles, platforms, &c., has absorbed the large sum of Rupees 5,500, and yet it would have been impossible to devise anything cheaper that could have been carried out within so limited a period and equally answered the purposes. On a future occasion handsome iron gates might be imported from England, which would certainly find a purchaser at full cost, or at all events result in a mere trifling loss, as was the case with the iron hurdles on the present occasion.

35. The Committee take this opportunity of recording their obligations to Colonel Dennis, C. B., Commanding Her Majesty's 52nd Regiment, Colonel Luard, Commanding the 25th Native Infantry, and Captain Hodgson, Commanding the 31st Native Infantry, to whose courtesy they were indebted for the presence at the Exhibition of the Bands of their respective Regiments, which played daily at stated intervals and formed in themselves an additional attraction to the Show. It was necessary, however, to provide the means of travelling as well as of subsistence for the Bandsmen, and this, together with the charge made for the use of the Town Band, together with the cost of refreshments supplied to them, amounted to Rupees 1,695-12.

36. But though the expenditure in its branches has been heavy, and the financial result is not exactly what could have been wished, yet the Committee think that, considering the scope and object of the undertaking, its merits must not be judged by its pecuniary results, but by the benefits which may reasonably be expected to accrue from it in future years. There can be no doubt that as a first attempt the late Agricultural Exhibition has been eminently successful. It has been the means of bringing together a collection of the products of the country and of European Machinery and implements such as has never before been seen in any part of India, and it has induced a large number of Natives to break through their habitual aversion to travelling. Men who had never before left their Native Zillahs not only came and saw the Exhibition, and were gratified at the result of their journey, but returned to their homes with the conviction that the undertaking had neither a political nor any financial object in view, but that it was set on foot with the sole intention of showing the people of this country the respective productions in Live Stock and Agricultural produce from the different Districts of Bengal and other Provinces; the results obtained by the introduction of cross-breeds; the Implements at present in use in different localities; and the scientific appliances used in Europe for agricultural purposes, many of which might be adopted with great advantage in India. The purchases of Machinery and of Agricultural Implements made at the Exhibition by Native gentlemen from the Mofussil afford an undeniable proof that there is no want of disposition to give those modern appliances a fair practical trial, whilst the liberal and numerous prizes held out and awarded to specimens of Live Stock will have the effect of securing greater attention to Cattle-breeding and Agriculture; and by rousing a spirit of competition result in a general improvement in the Cattle bred in this country. This of course cannot be the work of a moment; but the Committee are confident that, should another Exhibition be determined upon a couple of years hence, not only a marked improvement in all branches of Agricultural industry will be perceptible, but that the people themselves will be most anxious to give every support to an undertaking which at first from its novelty was not correctly appreciated by them, but the object and benefits of which they now clearly understand.

37. The Committee were anxious to submit their Report as early as possible, but they were of opinion that any Report would be imperfect unless accompanied by a Statement showing the financial result of the undertaking. Such a Statement could not be prepared until the actual liabilities of the Committee could be fully ascertained. Moreover it appeared most desirable that the prizes awarded by the Judges should be distributed without delay, and this necessarily took some time since abstracts of prizes awarded to Mofussil contributors had to be prepared for each Local Committee, and to be accompanied by a Treasury Transfer Receipt for the amount awarded. Then followed the distribution of the Prize Certificates and of Honorable Mentions; and lastly, the transmission of the Medals. In addition to this several of the specimens sold on account of private contributors had to be accounted for; but, as the final account sales were not received from the auctioneers until the 11th of last month, the Statements for each individual exhibitor could not be made out until some days after, when the same were transmitted either to the claimants direct, or through Local Committees, being, in each instance, accompanied by a remittance of the sale proceeds.

38. Local exhibitions have everywhere been attended with such beneficial results that they have become regular institutions, and the Committee have no doubt that the necessity of holding another one again in Bengal will sooner or later force itself upon the consideration of Government. Should such be determined upon, the Committee would most strongly recommend that two years, but under no circumstances less eighteen months, previous notice should be given thereof. It is not fair to English manufacturers, as well as to the Committee which may have to undertake the management, that they should have ample time to make their arrangements. Considering that it takes some time to pack and ship Machinery from England; that the average run of Ships coming round the Cape extends over a period of four months; that the landing of such Machinery at Calcutta is attended with numerous difficulties and delays; and that, moreover, in the absence of those facilities which are introduced into almost every Port in Europe and America, Machinery above a certain weight cannot be landed without the aid of the Superintendent of Her Majesty's Dock Yard at Kidderpore, it will be admitted that these several circumstances are productive of great delay. Moreover, it must be remembered that all such Machinery is brought out only in component parts, which require to be put together and set up by professional men, who, labouring under the difficulty of procuring a sufficiency of manual labor, are often unable to complete the work undertaken by them within the stipulated time. The late Agricultural Exhibition fully corroborates these views of the Committee. Though, owing to a greatly increased rate of ordinary wages, a number of artisans were secured to push on the work in the Machinery Department, nothing would induce them to work beyond the ordinary hours, and when on a particular occasion more than double the pay was given to them for night work not one of the artisans made his appearance next day, and it was impossible to procure substitutes at any price.

39. But even with a previous notice of eighteen months the Committee having the management of the Exhibition would find themselves pressed for time, unless different arrangements can be made from those on the last occasion. Owing to the climate an Exhibition could not be held at a later period than the middle of January, and, considering that nothing can be done at the Show Yard itself until after the rains, it is clear that the time within which sheds, &c., have to be constructed is much too short. Nothing would be gained by purchasing the material before the rains, for the greater portion of it would be so much injured by damp, even if kept in godowns, as to become absolutely unfit for use.

40. It has been suggested by various parties interested in the productions of India that the next Exhibition should comprise also a complete collection of manufactured articles, both Indian and Foreign. The Committee are afraid that such would be impracticable unless a special building were constructed in which valuable fabrics could be protected not only against atmospheric influences, but more especially against depredations. There can be no doubt that the splendid Silk and Cotton fabrics of India would greatly add to the display of the Show, but they would at the same time increase the risk and responsibility of the Committee without producing corresponding benefits, the great object at present being the improvement in the breed of Cattle and in Agricultural produce.

41. Before closing this Report the Committee would offer the following suggestions, which might be acted upon with advantage on the next occasion:—

1st.—That the Exhibition be opened on the 1st of January and continue open for a fortnight.

2nd.—That all work connected with the construction of buildings, sheds, &c., be done by contract.

3rd.—That the Rules of the Central Committee with regard to the time for receiving Returns, as well as the contributions themselves, be most strictly adhered to.

4th.—That the prizes be confined to those published by Government, but that donations from private individuals be received only for the conveyance of Ryots to the Exhibition, or for the purposes of the General Exhibition Fund in England.

5th.—That all samples of produce, unless bond fide made present of, be declined, the offer of liberal prizes being a sufficient inducement to those who consider their particular produce to be such as can stand successful competition. This would limit contributions to first rate and really deserving specimens.

6th.—That the Judges of Produce examine the various specimens and pronounce their awards at least one day previous to the opening of the Exhibition, because samples, by being exposed to heat, dust, and night dew, naturally deteriorate.

7th.—That a printed catalogue of the collection on view be rendered available on the morning of the opening of the Exhibition.

42. The Committee would finally recommend that, with the view to commemorating the first Bengal Agricultural Exhibition, each exhibitor be presented with a Bronze Medal, and a copy of the catalogue and the awards made by the Judges, and of the Judge's Report.

A. GROTE,
President.

REPORT OF THE JUDGES. CATTLE.

ALTHOUGH the number of cattle exhibited was considerable, and the quality on the whole good, we were able to award only fifty-eight of the ninety-four Government prizes offered; some few were withheld from there not being any animal deemed deserving, but the greater portion from there being no entries.

For instance, in the Series I., Class I., Section I., "Bulls bred in the Lower Provinces," there were no 3-year old Bulls entered, and of 5-year old, 2-year old, and yearlings, two of each age only were awarded the first and second prizes, no third prizes being given.

So likewise as regards the "Cows bred in the Lower Provinces," for which twenty-five prizes were offered and thirteen only awarded, the entry of 5-years old and upwards being numerous, whilst there was only one 4-year old, and no yearling.

The same remarks apply to the cattle from the Upper Provinces and from other parts of India, under which latter head very few entries were found.

The English imported cattle and the cross-breed, the immediate progeny of imported cattle, were largely represented, and all the prizes under these series were awarded in full.

The cattle bred in the Lower Provinces sent to the Exhibition were almost entirely of the large Up-country breed, and the entries of the breed of cattle in general use in Lower Bengal were very scanty.

As we believe that this indigenous breed is the only one suited to the country, looking to the climate and the food given to their cattle by the Ryots generally, we consider this absence of exhibitors may have proceeded partly from the belief that it would be useless to compete with the larger sized cattle; we would therefore recommend that in future there should be a separate series for the smaller breed of cattle.

If this recommendation should be attended to, care should be taken to have it understood that the prizes would be awarded to those animals of the breed which combined size with the other qualities desired. otherwise it may happen, as appears to have been, in some degree, the case on this occasion, that the entries for the smaller breed may consist chiefly of Ghynees which are entirely useless for any Agricultural purpose.

The cross-breed cattle were rather numerous and for dairy purposes they are probably an improvement on the pure country breed, provided they are well fed and protected from the weather; but the examination of this class has satisfied us that no good result for Agricultural purposes is to be expected from crossing the smaller Bengal cattle with English.

The only really fine animal of the cross-breed is No. 144, a bull bred by Dr. Farrell, and said to be by a short-horn bull from an Up-country cow, and this result of that cross makes it desirable that some further experiments should be made in the same direction, but we do not recommend the use of English bulls of the small breed.

The cross-breeds reared near Calcutta were generally from Alderney blood, and there was such a general want of size and power that we should not recommend those who are trying cross breeding to continue in this line, although, indeed, we have great doubt whether the small Bengalee cow will throw good produce to any large sized imported bulls.

The short-horn bulls and cows imported by the Rajah of Bultrampore were very good, as was also a twelvemonth old bull of the same breed imported by Dr. Barry, and the prizes for this class were nearly all carried off by these short-horns, the only exception being the third prize for cows awarded to Major Bishop for a cow apparently of the Sussex breed.

As before stated it is our opinion that if any experiment should continue to be made in breeding from imported cattle, the short-horns should be used; but we are not inclined to expect much from the attempt, especially as regards the cross with the small cows of Bengal breed.

CLASS I.—SECTION I.—SERIES VII. Buffaloes.

We have very few remarks to make under this head. We thought both the bull and cow to which the first prizes were awarded very good, though not of a very large breed. The Rangoon buffaloes were very large, and it appeared to us inferior to those named for the purposes required in this part of India, though they may be more active and may require less food than their size and appearance led us to expect.

CLASS II.—SECTION VI. Agricultural Carriages—Harness and Gears.

The entries under this Section were very few, and we were able to award only two prizes, one for an elephant harness to the Rangoon Committee, and one to Mr. Ladd for bullock yokes.

These yokes, if not themselves quite adapted to the country bullocks, seem to us to contain two principles which may be applied with advantage, viz., the ring to which the pole of the cart or plough ■ attached, which allows a certain play without working the yoke across the neck, and the fitting and fixing of the yoke itself to the neck.

Thorough-bred Horses.

Of the seven horses exhibited in this series five only were entered for show under the terms attached to the Prize List. Of these five two only appeared to us to be worthy of prizes, and to these we have awarded the first and second prizes, the first prize going to the chesnut English horse Crassus by Emilius out of Variation, which, though now nineteen years old, appeared wonderfully fresh and is entitled to the prize we have awarded to him, both from his blood and the known and proved excellence of his stock. Crassus is the property of Mr. G. J. Wallace, of Monghyr.

The second prize fell to the lot of the roan bay horse Pellissier by the Cure out of Countess of Burlington, the property of Mr. S. A. Apear, of Alipore.

Arab Horses.

Of the nine exhibited only two were shewn under the terms of the Prize List, and these two were so inferior that we have altogether withheld the prizes in this class. The other seven were exhibited not at all for competition for the prizes, but on the chance of being sold.

Blood Mares.

Of the sixteen mares exhibited four were disqualified from the fact of not being in foal or having a foal at foot. The whole of the prizes in this class have been awarded in the following order:—

The first prize to the chesnut country-bred mare "Grace Lee" by Crassus out of a Cross Knight mare, the property of Mr. G. J. Wallace.

The second prize to the dark bay English mare "Nina" by "Cootherstone" by "Touchstone," the property of Captain C. L. Brown, of Dinapore.

The third prize to the chesnut English mare Queen Victoria by Slane, bred at the Royal paddocks at Hampton Court, and now the property of Mr. F. A. Vincent, of Barh.

The fourth to a chesnut country-bred mare by General out of a Red Cross Knight mare, the property of Dr. Hutchinson, of Arrah.

The fifth to a grey Arab mare, the property of Nizam Nussur Ali Khan, of Balliganga.

Colts.

In the yearling class there was no show. Of the 2-year old colts the three exhibited by Government ranked above the others in the order below noted:—

The colt by Stanley-dam, No. 1495, by Mystic E. The colt by Apollonius-dam, No. 1672, by Duncannon E. The colt by Valentine out of a Zemindary mare.

As Government did not, however, compete for the prizes the prize in this class was awarded to a bay colt by Selim out of Fanny, the property of Mr. G. J. Wallace.

In the 3-year old class the dark bay colt by Chest. Buffer, bred at the Kerantadhee Stud, took first honors, and the colt by Collector, bred at Haupper, second place; for the reason given in the last paragraph the prize was awarded to a bay colt by Pellissier out of Coquette, the property of Mr. S. A. Apear, of Allipore.

Fillies.

Two yearlings only were exhibited, both the property of Mr. S. A. Apear, and the prize was awarded to a filly by Pellissier out of Lady Macdonald.

In the 2-year old class there were again but two competitors, the prize in this class falling to a chesnut filly by Sotterly out of a Red Cross Knight mare, the property of Mr. J. Macnamara, of Arrah.

3-Year olds.—Of the four exhibited in this class, composed of two exhibited by Mr. G. J. Wallace and two by Government, Mr. Wallace's chesnut filly by Crassus out of Eastern Maid carried off the prize with the greatest ease.

Hackney and Harness Mares and Geldings.

Of the sixteen exhibited in this class four were barred from competition from the fact of not being country-bred. Out of the remaining twelve there was no difficulty in awarding the prize for the best harness mare to a chesnut mare by an Arab out of a Belooch mare and bred by Colonel M. J. Turnbull, the prize for the best hackney being carried off by the bay mare exhibited by the Maharajah of Burdwan.

Stallion Ponies over 12½ and under 14 hands.

The two ponies exhibited in this class were in our opinion entitled to the prizes given and which were awarded in the following order:—

To Mr. J. Macnamara's grey Cabul pony Wanderer, and to Mr. W. W. Farquharson's grey Cabul pony.

There were only two mare ponies exhibited under the terms of the prize, viz., the grey mare from Rangoon to which the first prize has been accordingly awarded, the second being awarded to Mr. H. B. Simson's pony mare "Kiss-me-quick."

The best draught or saddle pony in the Exhibition was a chesnut pony bred and exhibited by Mr. W. Stalkartt, of Ghoseery, to which the prize was awarded.

Of the prizes offered for the different series of ponies under 12½ hands there is not one which we have thought proper to award, there being no entries worthy of notice.

We have been very much disappointed in not seeing any entries of the class of ponies ordinarily used by the Natives in their common hack carriages. These prizes were especially set apart for this class of ponies in the hope of obtaining a good show of them, and of teaching the owners of such by the award of the prizes what are the requisite points of a good draught pony. It is curious to note the utter absence of competition in the very class which should have produced the greatest number of exhibitors.

There were no asses exhibited.

Of mules there were two, to each of which we have awarded a prize, the mule exhibited by the Rangoon Committee taking the first, and Mr. J. Macnamara's mule the second prize.

Of the fifteen extra prizes offered, we have thought it our duty to award but three; in some cases there were no entries, and in others, such as, for instance, for local prizes, the animals exhibited were either too small or so bad as to be beneath notice.

The three prizes we awarded are—

| | Rs. |
|---|-----|
| For the best horse selected by the Committee awarded to Mr. G. J. Wallace's Grace Lee | 75 |
| For the best country-bred mare and foal to the same | 50 |
| For the best pair of ponies—to—the pair exhibited by the Rangoon Committee | 30 |

The large number of Native dealers who exhibited their horses were, as is usual, all in expectation of prizes, for which under the terms of the prizes they were all barred from competition. A very considerable saving having accrued from the non-award of prizes in one or two classes, and the want of competition in others, we were induced to recommend and have since been authorized to award to various Native exhibitors prizes as noted below:—

|---|---------|
| To the Maharajah of Bettiah's bay horse, part of his donation of Rupees 500 | Rs. 100 |
| To the white Persian horse, the property of the Maharajah of Bulrampore | " 100 |
| To the black horse, the property of the Maharajah of Dumraon | " 80 |
| To Siboo Singh's grey horse | " 50 |
| To Mahomed Khan's dun bay horse | " 50 |
| To the Maharajah of Bulrampore's grey horse | " 40 |
| To Mahomed Khan's dun bay horse | " 30 |
| To Mahomed Khan's white horse | " 25 |
| To Usbruf Ali's white horse | " 25 |

Mr. W. Tayler's Khorasan horse we consider entitled to honorable mention, but not being entered to cover mares no prize could be awarded to him.

The prizes thus given will, be trust, be an incentive to the Native dealers to exhibit again at any future opportunity, and at the same time be a guide to them as to the class of horses they should exhibit.

SHEEP AND GOATS.

The first thing that struck the Committee in their inspection of the sheep submitted to them was the very great inferiority, as a general rule, of the animals exhibited by Native competitors to those brought forward by the European community. From the specimens exhibited by the former, it was evidently entirely unknown to them that the object of the Exhibition was to show animals calculated to improve the breed. Hairy creatures with enormous horns were of frequent occurrence. One ram was said to have maintained a combat with a tiger; in another instance a poor woman actually brought carefully wrapped up in her chudder what might have been supposed to be a baby. On examination it proved to be a small black kid of the ordinary Bengalee breed, born with three legs instead of four! It appeared to have been the idea that anything strange or unusual was what was wanted; there were, however, some favorable exceptions, viz., the specimens exhibited by Cheboo Llama, of Thibet; and Baboo Ramlochan Ghose, Seopersaud Sing, and Chunder Bhosun Banerjee, whose names appear among the prizemen.

2. The sheep exhibited by the Europeans were for the most part in fine condition, well cared for, and remarkably good specimens of their class; it would have been hard to find at any exhibition of sheep a prettier sight than the pens shown by Mr. T. C. Trotter, of Patna, of four beautiful Patna ewes washed till they were as white as cotton, and by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal of ewes and lambs, which might have been a study for an artist. The Committee were sorry to find that they were disqualified for a prize on account of their being of various ages.

3. The imported sheep were not many; a Southdown imported by Dr. Barry, to which the highest prize was awarded, was a remarkably fine specimen; there were also some good Merinos from the Cape of Good Hope; they were selected by Mr. Michael Von Breda, and considered to be good specimens of the finer woolled breed; the price was £25 for the rams, and £15 for the ewes. The object in sending the sheep was to draw attention to the Cape Colony as a source of supply to this country. The rest of the imported animals consisted of Doombas and Arab sheep; the latter with fine haired coats, and perfectly unsuited for improving the breed in this country either in wool or mutton. From the former a selection might be made which would improve the wool in some degree, but they could not, of course, compete in that respect with either the Southdown or Merino breeds.

4. It was not to be expected that at the first Exhibition many sheep would be shown in which improvement of the Native breeds had been attempted: a pen of four ewes of the Bengalee breed crossed with the North China breed, the wool of which is very soft, though less thick in the fleeces than the European sheep, exhibited by Mr. Grote, and a very handsome ewe sent down by Mr. Davis, of Dacca, however, were sufficient to show what could be done in this way; while the ram from Patna stock, bred in Beerbhoom by Mr. Malet, winning the prizes against animals selected by Mr. Kelly, of Lohani-poor, from the District of Patna itself, was a good example of what may be done by care and good feeding. The several pens exhibited by Mr. Tayler, of Patna, were remarkably good specimens, and proved satisfactorily that much might be effected in the improvement of the Native breeds by selection without admixture of foreign blood.

5. It will have been observed that by far the greater number of prizes were taken by the Patna breed of sheep; the Committee would wish to observe that this breed is deserving of every encouragement; it possesses the quality of being easily fattened, and producing excellent mutton, and the wool, if allowed to grow to its full length, is of fair marketable quality. The Committee are informed that the usual practice at present is to clip the sheep three times in the year, which as regards the wool is manifestly objectionable. Several of the animals exhibited had their wool of the natural length, though frequent washing had, in most instances, deprived it of the unctuous feel so desirable and so prominent in wools of the superior class. The beautiful lambs in the pen of the Lieutenant-Governor, bred at Alipore, and in the pen of Mr. Malet, (which last were of the second generation, bred at Sooree, Baerbhoom,) show that the breed can be as successfully cultivated in Lower Bengal as in Behar itself; and the Committee would be glad to see it displace the miserable little Bengalee sheep now seen about the country, though they are aware that these last also might be much improved by judicious selection and crossing.

6. The Committee beg to suggest that at any future Exhibition it would be an improvement if the sheep were divided into two classes, wool producers, and mutton producers; and, considering that wool is of very great commercial importance to the whole community, while the quality of the flesh is only appreciated by the European minority, it would be advisable, the Committee think, that the larger prizes should be given to the wool producers.

7. The Committee were sorry to observe that in the Kindred Department of Farm Yard produce but very few specimens of wool were exhibited.

8. As to the goats, which were also the subject of inspection by the Committee, there is not much to be said; nothing very prominent in the way of excellence was brought forward; there were a very few Hill goats, from which the Committee were informed that the "Pushmina" or wool used in Cashmir shawls, was procurable; but as this is only produceable in the colder climate of the Himalaya, and not in Bengal, there was not much attention paid to it. The best goats were of the Jumna-Pari breed, and among those the finest specimens as to size were some sent down by Mr. Hunge, of Etawah, and the best milkers were exhibited by Mr. Tayler, of Patna. Many finer specimens of the goat tribe have often been seen by the Committee than any of those that were exhibited.

9. Taken as a whole the goats and sheep, and especially the latter, were a satisfactory lot, and the Committee trust that the manner in which they have awarded the prizes will, with the suggestion they have taken the liberty to offer regarding wool producers, show the community to what particulars their attention should be directed.

CLASS I.—SECTION VII.

Poultry.

Conformably with the permission granted the sheds originally erected and set apart for the Poultry Yard were exchanged with those prepared for the Dairy Produce. This interchange was attended with great benefit to our Department as admitting of more sun throughout the day (which is most essential for the well doing of animals which were prior to their being forwarded to the Exhibition at large throughout the day), and we believe of equal benefit to the Dairy Produce Department as providing a shed which was for a greater portion of the day in the shade.

Two sheds, Nos. 51 and 52, in the centre walk were thus assigned to the Poultry Department, each measuring in length 120 feet by 20 feet in breadth. These sheds were constructed of bamboo and mat, and were surrounded on all sides by a verandah made of mats 6 feet in width.

The sheds having been originally constructed in conformity with those erected for Live Stock throughout the Yard could not without much extra trouble and expense have been altered; but we would notice that they were not sufficiently broad or high to admit of the animals being fairly exhibited or provided with sufficient air and light.

Shed No. 52 was assigned to the classification and arrangement of fowls, bantams, capons, and pigeons, and shed No. 51 to that of turkeys, geese, ducks, and rabbits.

In the former all the animals were raised from the ground on a platform $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet in height, and in the latter, with the exception of the rabbits, which were arranged in hutches $3\frac{1}{2}$ feet from the surface, all animals were enclosed in pens on the ground.

The pens occupied the central 10 feet of the building, while the outer portion of 5 feet on either side was set apart as a pathway for spectators; one single doorway divided in two for entrance and exit to and from each shed was found requisite for each building, and the arrangement not only prevented the ingress of dogs and vermin, but admitted of the spectators, by proceeding in one line from pen to pen, seeing the animals well, without being crowded or jostled.

Shed No. 52.

In this were constructed eighty enclosures for "pens of fowls," numbering five or four according to the series under which they competed, measuring 3 feet by 4 in depth, and $2\frac{1}{2}$ in height. These enclosures were constructed of bamboo and matwork on the sides and back, with a line of galvanized net wire stretched in front from end to end; above these were placed boxes measuring 9 feet in length by $2\frac{1}{2}$ in height, constructed of $\frac{3}{4}$ inch pine planks with galvanized net work stretched over the front and top, the backs and divisions of the cages being of $\frac{1}{4}$ inch pine plank. These cages were divided in accordance with the size of the birds expected to arrive, some in four, some in five, and some in six divisions. Four of these cages were divided in two in their height to admit of the pigeons, the lower division, 1 foot 4 inches, being set apart for larger pigeons, such as Carriers, Sherazies, and Golabs, and the upper, 1 foot in height, to those breeds of smaller size.

In each compartment tin troughs, water tight, 3 inches in length and 2 in depth, were fastened three inches above the floor, vessels for water and food placed loose in the cages being liable to upset and always unsightly.

The entrance to each pen and cage was by a door from behind; each pen was cleaned out daily, and sand and saw dust thrown lightly into every compartment twice during the day.

The fowls were fed on common old rice in the husk, and every alternate day with a small quantity of husked rice and chopped lettuce leaf.

Pigeons were fed on the common pigeon pea; this was found necessary as most of them had been in the habit of feeding on peas previous to the Show; but this causes the pens and the feathers of the birds to become fouled and unsightly.

The fowls and pigeons that were supplied from Calcutta and the Suburbs were brought to the Show in good order; many of those from the Mofussil arrived in bad condition from having been confined in unsuitable and small cages for many days. Some were even brought from great distances with their legs tied, and were unable to stand and were unfit for exhibition, and returned accordingly.

Annexed is a List of the prizes that have been awarded by us to the several successful exhibitors.

Owing to the difficulty that arose in our minds as to the distinction to be made between Series I.—“Fowls bred in India,” and Series V.—“Country-bred fowls,” we deemed it necessary to make some alteration in the Prize List and to amalgamate the two, giving separate prizes for pens of five and pens of four, and we moreover considered it requisite to substitute for prize No. one for “country-bred fowls of the Shanghai and Cochin species.”

This we deemed essential so as to admit of the other classes of smaller sized country-bred fowls being able to compete among themselves, and at the same time leave the amount of the original prize offered for “country-bred” fowls to the Shanghai and Cochin species. We moreover deemed it advisable to award an extra prize for the most perfect pen of country-bred fowls in the Show with reference to their uniformity of shape, plumage, and suitability to the climate. This prize was awarded by us to a pen of fowls sent by Major Agnew from Gowhatty, birds much resembling the Chittagong breed, though more brilliant in plumage and erect in carriage.

These fowls attracted our particular attention on account not only of their general appearance, but of the manner in which they had undergone a long journey in confinement. This pen of poultry (one cock and three hens), which was presented to the Show by Major Agnew, realized Rupees 40 at the auction sale.

The second prize, No. 101, for the pen of four imported geese we reduced to the number of three geese to admit of competition among several who had not been able to exhibit the whole number provided for in the original Prize List.

We now come to the description of fowls exhibited.

Game Fowls were but very poorly represented, only two “pens” were exhibited, and the best of these contained mixed specimens. A few single cocks and hens were deserving of merit, but, considering the valuable birds that are known to exist in India, and even in Calcutta, we admit that we were disappointed in our expectations regarding this particular class.

The prize for the best game cock was awarded to a bird of Colonel Stephenson’s breed (yellow); for the best hen also one of the same breed (yellow). The second prize was awarded to a black breasted red cockerell, more with reference to his carriage and feather, than his powers of endurance in the contest. We are aware that in England the prize for game birds is awarded solely with reference to the brilliancy of plumage, the graceful carriage, and the absence of the white feather, but we have been disinclined to accept these qualifications in total disregard of the known leading points of the Indian game cock, viz., the eagle eye, the natural (uncut) clean comb and wattle, the broad and partially naked chest, the muscular thigh, and clean, sinewy leg, the strong broad beak, and the thin wiry feathered tail; in short we do not consider the English game fowl, “Coq D’Angleterre” of Buffon, and the Asiatic game cock to be in any way assimilated to each other, and in point of carriage and endurance we have no doubt that the English bird would in combat soon succumb to the bravery and endurance of his Asiatic name-sake.

Chittagong.—A few pens of these fowls were sent from Chittagong, but none containing specimens worthy of special commendation. These fowls are specially hardy, and when crossed with the Native Bengallee fowl produce poultry most suitable for the table. The other country-bred fowls, with the exception of two pens of the Darjeeling breed which contained some fine specimens, were badly represented; some cotton feathered (chiefly cocks) and Spanish fowls were deserving of attention.

Shanghai Species.—Country-bred fowls of the Shanghai species fully merited the prizes that were awarded them; these fowls we consider hardy, good layers, and well suited for domestic use, and the most likely to improve the breed of the ordinary Bengallee fowl.

Imported Fowls.—Of these but three pens were exhibited, one of Cochin China (English), one of grey Sussex, and a third of no specific class (English); none of these were deserving of particular notice.

Six imported Cochin China hens from the farm-yard of Mr. W. Stalkartt were magnificent specimens; unfortunately no cockbird of the same species accompanied them.

Bantams.—There was, as we expected, a great variety in this class, some of the specimens of which among the smooth legged were exceedingly rich. A white cock (China) to which the first prize was awarded, and a pen of white with black edges from Japan (also a first prize), were most attractive; some of the Japanese and Rangoon bantams were also exceedingly good.

Several pens of miscellaneous fowls, comprising Rumpkins, Kaffrees, Spanish, Poland, pure jungle fowl, and a pair of white pigeon fowls from Budruck were exhibited. With the exception of the last named, which are a novelty to us, none were remarkable.

Guinea Fowls.—These were fairly represented, and two pens from the Lobanipore farm, which had been confined for a long time, the prizes were awarded.

These birds, though living in their natural state chiefly on insects, during their confinement in pens thrived and apparently improved on their unvaried diet, the common unhusked rice.

Capons.—Some thirteen pens of these birds were exhibited in numbers varying from two to a dozen; the finest specimens were received from Assam and gained the prize. These birds we found thrive best alone, and not, as some were sent, in numbers, where the master bird prevents the others from moving within the pen, and overfeeds himself on the food of his companions.

Capons if allowed to be caged in numbers are prone to chicken-pox, which would be most destructive in a Show, and we would recommend them always being caged alone or in small numbers.

Pigeons.—A large variety, consisting chiefly of Sherazies, Tumblers, and Fantails, with other fancy kinds, were exhibited and attracted considerable attention.

The Sherazies from Benares were particularly fine. Some of the finest birds of pure and well defined color had been ingeniously disfigured by inoculation with parti-colored feathers, and were lost to the eye of the real pigeon fancier; nevertheless some birds that were displayed in their natural colors were excellent.

A large variety of fancy pigeons belonging to the Messrs. Wood were most attractive. Simavia, Lalalca, Sishoo, Pouter (one pair), Patna Golas, and Tumblers were among the most prominent. Some curly feathered Fantails, Trumpeters, and Monghyas sent for exhibition and not for competition were highly approved of.

With this series terminated the shed No. 52, and we have the satisfaction to report that but one capon among upwards of five hundred head of birds died during the Show, the rest having been delivered to their respective owners.

We would notice several instances of fowls being injured during the Show owing to the owners having described and despatched them as "a pen of fowls," whereas it was evident that they had never all been together till the Show commenced, the consequence being that the new comers were much mutilated by their overpowering companions and obliged to be removed, thus destroying the pen and the owners chance of securing a prize.

Shed No. 51.

In this Department sixty-six compartments, 3 feet 3 inches by 4 feet 6 inches in breadth, and 3 feet in height, were assigned for the turkeys, geese, and ducks.

The compartments were made of stretched wire from end to end, the divisions being made of matwork, and the top covered with thin wooden frame work of 9 feet by 3, overlapped with iron network.

Matting is not suitable for geese, especially at this time of the year when they are nesting, and soon gets destroyed by the birds.

The divisions might have been made in net work, but it would have been expensive, as the net when once cut is unsaleable, which we considered deserving of our attention. We would mention that scarcely six yards of netting were wasted, the smaller pieces having been used in covering the pigeon boxes.

The turkeys, consisting of twenty-two pens, were on the whole satisfactory, with the exception of the first prize pen, which to the Judges appeared to be either imported or the first produce; they were small but hardy. These birds do not stand long confinement, and being deprived of the sun soon pine. They were fed with sattoo, bran, and rice in husk, and but one bird which was very sick when it arrived was lost during the Show.

These birds thrive and look well in a Show on the ground, but care should be taken that they have sand or saw dust in abundance to prevent cold, to which Indian turkeys are very subject.

Three turkeys from Motihari, a cock and two hens, priced at Rupees 10 and sold the first day the Show opened, though small, and not successful in securing a prize, appeared to us a superior class of bird, as being hardy and well suited to the climate of Bengal. These birds, though confined for upwards of a fortnight, left the Show Yard at the close of the Exhibition in full health.

Geese, imported.

The imported specimens of geese, both English and China, were remarkably fine. One pen of English geese from Howrah were deserving of the highest commendation, and gained several prizes.

The China imported were very fine; but we question whether they are not better suited for ornamental lakes and tanks than for the table.

The country-bred specimens, with one or two exceptions, were not deserving of special notice.

Ducks.

This series we regretted to find but most imperfectly represented; the whole of the specimens with the exception of one imported drake were small and demanded little attention.

Rabbits.

But twelve rabbits were sent to the Show, though we had provided accommodation for as many as eighty, and those that did reach us were small.

In this shed one goose and one turkey died during the Show, the latter being, as above stated, in a very weak state when it arrived.

On the whole subject we would report that the collection of poultry and pigeons was good and most interesting, and considering the novelty of the attempt, we may state that it far exceeded our expectations, and reflects great credit to the numerous exhibitors who have in the first Exhibition of this kind come forward to promote the interests of the Exhibition, and to whom our best thanks are fully due.

Viewing this part of the Exhibition in a financial point of view we would conclude our Report in remarking that we fully anticipate that the greater portion, if not the whole, of the expenses will be repaid by the sale of the cages which have been constructed with a view to future sale, and for the purchase of which during the Show and up to the present date there are numerous applications coming in.

The sum of Rupees 70 was expended in Establishment previous to and during the Show.

Several pens of poultry were sold privately during the Show at very high prices, and constant demands were being made in the Office for purchase of those exhibited.

One country-bred Cochin cock was sold for the sum of Rupees 100, and many others might have met with purchasers had the owners been disposed to part with them.

CEREALS, PULSES, AND TUBERS.

Section 1.—Cereals.

The exhibition of wheats was very good, and of rice and paddy the specimens sent were very numerous, though some of the best descriptions of moongy and of table rice were wanting. Bajra, jowar, and millets were few in number of specimens.

The best wheats, oats, and barley were from Benares. Of rice the first specimens of scalded came from Bancoorah and 24-Pergunnahs; and of unscalded from Gyah and 24-Pergunnahs. We had some difficulty in awarding the local prizes for rice in consequence of defective arrangement of the specimens (above 500 in number) in the sheds.

Of paddy the best specimen was from Benares, the bara paddy raised yearly by the Rajah from seeds obtained from Peshawar. We were unable sufficiently to discriminate between the many specimens of ordinary paddy, so as to admit of our awarding the local prizes. This difficulty should be borne in mind on future occasions by parties offering prizes for rice in the husk.

Section II.—Pulses.

The best specimens of gram were from Benares. In peas and beans the exhibition was poor; but there were numerous specimens of kalues, the best of which came from 24-Pergunnahs.

Section III.—Tubers.

The exhibition of potatoes, sweet potatoes, and turneric was too poor in specimens to admit of our awarding any prizes. Five specimens, however, of all these were shown at the Belvedere Vegetable Show on Saturday. There was not much competition in ginger, arrowroot, and tapioca.

General Remarks.

The arrangement of the specimens in these three sections was imperfect, and our time was unnecessarily taken up by having to look for specimens entered in the Catalogue, some of which indeed we could not find. It took us nearly two days to go through the specimens, 991 by Catalogue, but really many more. In future Exhibitions we suggest that more pains be insisted on in the proper classification of specimens, and greater accuracy in the composition and printing of the Catalogue and Prize Lists. Exhibitors naturally expect their respective contributions to be examined side by side by the Judges when the latter are making their awards.

It would be well perhaps were the Judges or other equally qualified persons to be associated in future with those who undertake the arrangement of the specimens.

" PEARY CHAND MITTRA.

I have signed, but I regret I cannot agree in the tenor of paragraph I under the head of General Remarks. I am of opinion that the arrangement of the specimens in these three sections was not such as could be wished. In future Exhibitions no specimen not actually received should be catalogued, no bag or basket without label or number be kept, and that all the specimens be classified and numbered consecutively, so that each collection or department may be in one place. It would greatly facilitate the adjudication if the numbering were made also with reference to the Districts whence the specimens have been received. I offer these suggestions in no depreciatory spirit, as every allowance ought to be made for this first attempt towards getting up an exhibition on such a large scale.

COTTON.

Among the samples exhibited there are very few that are of the weight prescribed in the Prize List, viz., five seers; and still fewer that are accompanied by the requisite certificate from the Local Committee of the District in which they were grown as to what quantity of produce the several specimens represent. Many are also without either the name of the exhibitor, or the place of growth, and others bearing the first have no indication whatever of the place where the cotton was produced.

These omissions on the part of exhibitors render it impossible to the undersigned to do justice to particular specimens exhibited, which in themselves are worthy of notice, and which might have competed for the prizes offered by Government, or otherwise for one of the extra prizes offered by individual donors, had the conditions of the competition been complied with.

We beg also to bring to your notice the names of these gentlemen who have sent samples of cotton to this Exhibition which are either not of the prescribed weight, or do not represent sufficient quantity of produce, or from other causes are not entitled to compete for any of the prizes in either List, but which are yet well deserving of honorable mention in this Report.

SAFFLOWER AND LAC DYE.

In consequence of the samples of safflower and lac dye having (excepting in two instances) no labels upon them to indicate by whom they were sent for exhibition or from what District we have found it impossible to award the prizes satisfactorily.

Of safflower the best sample exhibited had a card upon it bearing the name of the Maharajah of Doomraon. To that sample we award the Government prize of Rupees 50, but having no means of distinguishing the others we cannot award the other prizes offered. ●

Of lac dye there were three samples, one from Messrs. Hamilton, Brown and Co., the others bore no labels, but upon the cakes of dye there are stamps by which they may be recognized. We award the prizes as follows :—

To the mark T. Lucas, the first prize, best specimen ... Rs. ■ & Rs. 10

To Messrs. Hamilton, Brown
& Co., second prize, second best specimen 16

To the mark $\begin{matrix} TL \\ M \end{matrix}$ } third prize, third best specimen 12

With regard to the Native dyes we regret that, in the absence of our colleagues, Baboo Prosono Coomarr Tagore, we are unable to pronounce any judgment, as they are not articles of export from Calcutta, and we are consequently unacquainted with their merits.

TOBACCO.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances I regret to say that I have not been able to meet my colleagues ; therefore what I send is only the result of my private opinion and judgment.

To facilitate the award of prizes to the tobacco in my absence, I have given a certain number of marks to the different specimens showing the relative value of each sample.

I regret to say that, owing to the want of proper labelling and numbering of the samples,
 I have been compelled to avail myself, in some cases, of the little information given by scraps of paper attached to the bales or boxes.

TEA.

Neilgherry Tea.—This is a fairly-made tea for a first attempt, but contains a large quantity of reddish brown leaf, caused by a portion of it being rather too old when picked. It has the flavor of a brown leaf China tea, but much wanting in strength, and therefore unsuitable as a mixing tea, strength more than flavor being the great desideratum in East Indian teas. It is this quality that gives the high market value to the general run of the teas produced in this country.
 Probably this would have been of much better quality, and of a more marketable appearance had it been prepared by a practical tea-maker.

Chittagong Tea.—This tea appears to be a mixture of all the qualities produced with many red leaves and stalks. It is broken and dusty, and evidently prepared by a party somewhat inexperienced in the manipulation of tea. It has a very strong full flavor, a quality highly appreciated in the English market for mixing purposes. (Indian teas are seldom used by themselves, but are brought by the dealers to mix with the more flavory but weaker teas from China and Japan.)

We consider that this first attempt to produce tea in this new District is highly satisfactory, and, if care and experience be brought to bear upon its cultivation and manufacture, that it promises well for the future prospects of this neighbourhood as a tea-growing District.

COFFEE.

We have the pleasure to report on the coffees shown at the late Exhibition at Allipore.

All the samples exhibited were much of the same class, having a fair gold berry, bright color, and a uniform clear face.

We are unable to go into detail as to flavor, as there was not the necessary convenience, apparatus for roasting, &c., &c.

(Sd.) J. H. HAWORTH.
" C. J. INSKIP.

NOTE.—It was impossible to report fully on these samples. Coffee, to be properly tested, must be first roasted, then pulverised and infused, and the infusion carefully tasted. It may appear an excellent article in its crude state, but when tested in the manner above described will sometimes be found unclean, and almost unfit for use.

The coffee roasters commonly used (in roasting large quantities) are useless when a small quantity only is to be dried; the coffee would get burnt and spoilt. I do not at all suppose a proper coffee roaster is procurable in Calcutta.

MACHINERY.

Steam Ploughs.

We, the undersigned Judges of the machinery and other implements, &c., included in Class II., Sections I., VIII., and XV., beg to forward you the following report:—

Owing to the backward state of the machinery, &c., we were not able to award the prizes until yesterday, and the accompanying List shows to whom the prizes have been given.

In Class II., Section I., we deemed it advisable to withhold the prizes I., J., and K. in Prize List, as there were no exhibitors under I. and K., and the only turbine under J. we deemed unworthy of a prize. For prize E. in the same Section the wind engines exhibited were unworthy of notice, and we took it upon ourselves to give that prize to the best single cylinder portable engine.

For prize D. there were two competitors, Messrs. Fowler and Messrs. Howard.

In testing the comparative merits of these two systems we directed our attention to—

1st.—The cost of work done

2nd.—The quantity and description of work done.

3rd.—The practical or agricultural value of that work.

Fowler's apparatus ploughed in one hour and four minutes 37,620 square feet at an average depth of eight and a half inches with a four furrow plough, and with a seven tyne scarifier cultivated in twenty-nine minutes 25,992 square feet, making a total of land cultivated in one hour and thirty-three minutes 63,612 square feet, at a cost of Rupees 6-9-10, or Rupees 1-7-9 per beegah.

Howard's apparatus ploughed in one hour and ten minutes 20,520 square feet at an average depth of eight inches with a three furrow plough, and with a fine tyne cultivator cultivated in thirty-nine minutes 25,992 square feet, making a total of land cultivated in one hour and forty-nine minutes

40,512 square feet, at a cost of Rupees 5-14-3, or Rupees 1-13 per beegah.

The quality of the work done was in favor of Messrs. Fowler's apparatus both ploughing and cultivating on account of the land being more thoroughly broken and better turned over.

Fowler's plough was worked with a fourteen horse-power engine and Howard's with a ten horse-power engine.

Class II., Section VIII.

For Nos. 61, 62, 63, 66, and 67 in Prize List no awards were made on account of there being no articles exhibited worthy of the prizes.

Class II., Section XV.

For indigo vat beating machinery the prizes have been awarded to Mr. A. Butler for his very excellent arrangement. The cotton presses exhibited not having shown any improvement either in "speed or power on the presses now used," the prize was withheld.

We would recommend that at the next Exhibition the prizes should be awarded previous to its being opened to the public; and we hope that the experience now gained will lead to a better arrangement of articles under their different classes.

CALCUTTA,
The 30th January 1864. }

MACHINERY.

On the 30th January we forwarded a hasty note of the prizes awarded to the exhibitors of certain machinery. In continuation we now submit a further report on the machinery exhibited under Sections I., VIII., and XV., Class II., of which we had the honor of being nominated Judges.

PRIME-MOVERS, STEAM.

A.—Horizontal Non-condensing Engines.

Of this class seven engines were exhibited, viz., four by Calcutta Firms, who had imported the engines in ordinary course of business for sale, three expressly imported for the Exhibition.

There was no particular excellence in any of these engines: all were ordinary and cheaply constructed, and exhibited no late improvements or any special qualities demanding attention.

The prize was awarded to No. 7, an engine of sixteen horse-power.

The class of engine is one for which there will be a great and increasing demand, and we think that, had a longer notice been given, a greater number, and better engines, would have been exhibited.

B.—Vertical Iron condensing Engines.

No engines of this class were specially imported for the Exhibition, but four engines were exhibited by Calcutta Firms, who had imported them in ordinary course of business for sale.

Three of these were for general work, and one specially adapted for pumping.

The engines were all of very ordinary make. The prize was awarded to No. 19, a six horse-power engine.

C.—Double Cylinder Portable Engines.

Of this class, four engines were expressly imported for the Exhibition. All were of good construction as ordinarily made by the several makers.

There was, however, no difficulty in awarding the prize to Messrs. Fowler's engine as the best and most useful engine of its class.

D.—Single Cylinder Portable Engines.

No prize was allotted for this class of engine, but as seven engines expressly imported for the Exhibition were exhibited, and as the prize for a wind engine could not be awarded in its own class, we took upon ourselves to recommend the transfer, and we awarded the prize to this class of engine.

The engines were all well made serviceable engines, as ordinarily constructed by the several makers, and the prize was awarded to the best and most useful engine No. 10 of eight horse-power.

Without entering into the consideration of the designs on which these portable engines have severally been constructed, we would wish generally to point out certain points of construction that should be attended to in engines intended for India.

We suggest that the wheels and carriages should be invariably made of iron, and that no wood should be admitted into the construction.

That all those moving parts now constructed of cast iron and liable to irregular strain should be made of wrought iron; that the manufacturer should bear in mind that these engines will have to work many hundred miles away from any possible means of repair, and that they are more liable to injury from unskilled hands in India than they would be in Europe.

That in this climate the fewer bright parts about an engine the better; that in every engine there should be a locked safety valve; and that all engines of this class should be locomotive.

II.—Prime-movers, Wind Engines.

We consider it to be a matter of great regret that there were no engines exhibited under this class worthy of notice.

There is a great field open in India for wind engines, in some parts for irrigation, and in many parts for general purposes, and we cannot but think that a well constructed wind engine would be found thoroughly adapted to the people and their wants, in many parts of this vast and varying country.

Looking, therefore, to one of the ends of such Exhibitions as the present one, vis., the directing of public attention in the right direction, we would urge, that in any future exhibition, attention should be directly and indirectly drawn to wind engines.

We anticipate that little will be done in this country in the matter, and therefore suggest that designs be invited from those countries where wind engines are found to work well and are in daily work.

III.—Prime-movers, Water.

No water wheels were exhibited, and only one turbine, but so inferior in design and construction as to preclude the possibility of awarding a prize.

IV.—Prime-mover, Cattle-power works.

Three sets of these cattle-power works were exhibited; all were imported expressly for the Exhibition. The prize was awarded to No. 30, an excellent arrangement moderately priced.

We think these machines well adapted to the wants of the country, and that they will be a successful introduction.

V.—Traction Engine.

Only one traction engine was submitted to us, and the prize was awarded to it. The engine was constructed in India, and is more of a road locomotive than traction engine.

Two other engines, vis., Fowler's and Aveline's, were afterwards exhibited.

The latter if it had been in time would have gained the prize, as it is a useful, well constructed engine, and well adapted to the country, being also available as a stationary engine for general purposes, and coming nearly to what we proposed, that portable engines should be, locomotive.

IRRIGATING MACHINERY.

A.—Persian Wheel.

The prize was awarded to the only wheel exhibited. This machine, though faulty in many respects, is a great advance on the Native wheel, and is a useful, serviceable irrigating machine. Its price is moderate, and as such it will supply the condition for which the prize was given.

B.—No fixed irrigating Pump for wells were exhibited.

C.—A portable irrigating machine on wheels was exhibited, and received the prize given for that class of machine.

D.—Centrifugal Pump.

All the pumps exhibited under this class were by the same maker. The prize was therefore awarded to the best adaptation of the machine, which was a pump fixed to a portable engine by Messrs. Ransome and Sims.

There were six pumps of this class exhibited in full work, and all deserving of commendation.

E.—Portable Pump.

There were a number of pumps of this description exhibited, and the prize was awarded to an arrangement of the Californian pump, which pumps we consider to deserve special notice.

A series of Norton's V. pumps were exhibited; we considered this pump deserving of high commendation and awarded it a silver medal. It is a pump well adapted to the wants of this country.

We have to remark, that though, in the V. Pump and in Gwynus centrifugal pump, the irrigating and water raising machines, for irrigating with low lifts were represented, there was a total absence of machines to irrigate from deep wells, and we suggest that in the notice for any future Exhibition the work to be done should be fully set forth.

A small American chain pump was exhibited, but it was too small to serve any practical purpose.

Several collections of models of country irrigating machines were also exhibited; there were many of them deserving of notice, and the prize was awarded to a very excellent arrangement of the tilting trough from Burmah, by which the labor of one or more men was adapted in the most economical way.

Indigo beating Machine.

Three model machines were exhibited under this head, and the prize was awarded to a construction No. 117. This machine doubtless does to a certain extent the work required of it, and is the best machine we know of, but we cannot but think that there is a great field open to machines in this manufacture, and we would suggest that, with the notice of any future Exhibition, a memorandum (drawn up by some qualified manufacturers and chemists) be annexed for the purpose of shewing what is required.

Saw Mill.

Only three were exhibited. These were circular saws of ordinary construction deserving no particular notice.

There were mortising and tenoning machines exhibited, but they hardly came within the scope of the Exhibition. It is to be regretted much that no machine was exhibited which would fully meet the condition set forth, vis. :—

Machines adapted to Tea Box making.

We consider that it is very desirable to introduce such machinery, and that ample time and detailed explanation should be given to the public of acknowledged requirements previous to any future Exhibition.

Presses.

The presses exhibited did not possess any improvement sufficient to warrant a prize being given.

Two presses were exhibited, one an ordinary screw press of good workmanship, and the other a hydraulic press, too slow in action to be deserving of any commendation.

Rice Mill.

There was only one mill exhibited under this class, and it was of Native construction from Burmah. We considered its construction to have so much merit that a prize was awarded.

In closing this report we desire to offer a few remarks on the question of machinery for India; for the daily increasing cost of labor and the bad quality of that labor, the introduction of European capital, and European example, is creating an increasing demand for machinery to such an extent as to call for the serious consideration of the Government, of the public, and of the manufacturer.

We think the machinery may be divided into two classes:—

1. Existing perfected machinery, already at work in Europe, to be selected for and introduced into India.

2. Special Machines for special wants of the country, and its manufactures to be designed and constructed.

For the first of these, viz., for the introduction of existing machinery, this Exhibition has done much. Messrs. Ransome and Sims have through Messrs. Lepage and Company very wisely sent out an Engineer to see what is wanted, and to advise his Firm as to the requirements of the country. Messrs. Thomson and Company have selected their own machinery. We think the greatest credit is due to these two Firms for the enterprise exhibited.

Whatever progress is made will be due to the Exhibition, and though for some time to come that progress may be slow, we think that a step is taken, that the next Exhibition will show great progress, and that agricultural and other machinery has got a firm footing in India.

For the second of these, viz.—

The designing and constructing of special machines for special purposes of the country and its manufacture.

The subject is surrounded with difficulties, and it appears to us that as yet no steps have been taken in the right direction.

The Exhibition shows a lamentable, though not unexpected, absence of mechanical talent in the matter of special machinery for Indian requirements.

We think this arises from the fact that Indian manufacturers, though they well know their wants in machinery, can have no mechanical education or knowledge, and can meet with no consulting mechanics in the country to supply such and to carry out their ideas.

In England and Europe there are scientific and practical men, whose sole employment it is to embody and mature the ideas, and to supply the wants of manufacturers, but in India these men are not available.

We are aware that enterprising men with good but crude ideas (having spent large sums in endeavoring to construct machinery for special purposes) have partially succeeded, but we are also aware that many have failed, generally from deficiency of the necessary mechanical knowledge. It may be thought that such failures affect the individual only, but we would point out that these failures are not confined to the individual concerned or to the loss of his money; but that they affect the public in every instance in the introduction of machinery by the fact of failures having occurred.

The Exhibition having forced this question on our attention we have sought for a remedy, and we would suggest, that whenever possible, as in the cases of Tea Planters and Indigo growers, &c., that they would be wise to join to share the expense of bringing out to this country competent and scientific mechanics to correct the work to be done and thereon to design and construct machinery for the purpose.

We think that for the present such machinery would be best constructed in England, and that if once sufficient data got into English manufacturer's circles, we should have as many, and as well constructed, machines for tea and indigo, as we now have for oil and sugar.

That the establishment of consulting mechanics in India would follow quickly on the steps taken.

If these steps were taken at once the next Exhibition will assuredly show a good collection of tea and indigo manufacturing implements.

Finally, looking to the time necessary to obtain machinery from England, we would advise that at least eighteen months' notice be given of the next Exhibition.

We would advise that the Exhibition should provide engine power and steam power separately and that the arrangement should be matured by a Committee of Engineers, at least six months prior to the date of opening.

DAIRY AND MISCELLANEOUS IMPLEMENTS.

CLASS II.—SECTIONS VII. AND IX.

Section VII.—Dairy Implements.

THERE were five prizes offered in this Section, but competitors for only two of them. There was no competitor for the best butter worker, nor for the best collection of butter prints, and only one for the best country made churn. One was exhibited in shed No. 1, not mentioned in the Catalogue, but it was scarcely worthy of the name of a churn.

It is remarkable that there were not more competitors for these prizes, the articles for which they were offered are of the character which Native mistresses can make very well at a small cost. We think encouragement should be given to men of this class to exhibit on their own account at any future Exhibition.

The two prizes competed for were "for the best churn" and "for the best collection of earthenware, glass, or enamelled milk pails."

Five descriptions of churns were exhibited, two of wood, three of metal; the latter provided for the regulation of the temperature of the cream while being churned by means of an outer chamber into which hot or cold water could be introduced as necessary.

A churn exhibited by the Agricultural Society had a thermometer attached to the inner chamber which showed the temperature of the cream.

The principal advantage which the prize churn seemed to possess over some of the others was the facility it offered for being cleaned; all the parts could be easily taken asunder and thoroughly washed, an arrangement which is always very desirable, but in this country it is especially so.

There were three competitors for the best milk pans; of these one collection was of wrought and cast iron enamelled by Messrs. T. E. Thomson and Company, one of country-made earthenware by Baboo Heeralall Seal, and one of European-made earthenware by Mr. Stalkartt. Those of enamelled wrought iron were very nice pans, but we are of opinion that for cleanliness, coolness, and neatness, those of European earthenware are by far the best suited for this country.

The earthenware pans made at Pattragatta are very excellent specimens of Indian manufacture. Although the regulations did not permit us to award a prize for them, we think the exhibitor deserves very great credit and encouragement; and we have no doubt that, after more experience in manufacture, he will be able to produce earthenware of a very superior quality.

Section IX—Miscellaneous Machinery and Implements used in Agricultural and in the preparation of Agricultural produce for the Market.

Seventeen prizes out of twenty-one were competed for in this Section. There were no competitors for the prizes offered "for the best specimen of wooden gates for temporary fencing," "for the best specimen of galvanized iron fencing, &c."

"For the best wrought iron roof to carry corrugated galvanized iron or other light material suited to the climate."

"For the best dry clay brick machine to be worked by steam power."

The only one of those prizes for which Native workmen were at all likely to compete is that for wooden gates for fencing, and as this idea was quite new to them, it is not to be wondered at that they did not compete. It is, however, to be regretted that some patterns were not exhibited, as there is ample room for their use in Bengal, if made cheap and easily erected.

The iron wire fencing and iron roofing could only be expected from European manufacturers. It is surprising that some specimens were not exhibited, but the omission is not a matter of much importance, as the best specimens can be seen on the Railway works now being carried out in Bengal.

The dry clay brick-making machine must be heavy and expensive, and a machine for which there is not likely to be much demand in this country for a long time, so that it is not surprising that there were no exhibition.

Of the larger and more expensive articles for which prizes were awarded in many instances there was no competition, or only one specimen. In other cases there were only two or three exhibitors.

There was very fair competition for the prizes offered for small implements, such as field hoes, pick-axes, felling tools, pruning instruments, draining tools, &c., but they were nearly all exhibited by Messrs. T. E. Thomson and Company, who were very far above all competition in this class of implements; indeed the variety exhibited by them was ample to satisfy the most varied tastes.

There was only one brick-making machine worked by steam. It was by J. Whitehead; the prize was given to it, because it was the only one, not on account of any merit which we were able to discover in it; indeed we do not think that machines which require the clay to be cut by wires are suited to this country. In some cases simple pug mills are useful, but we think that by using simple pug mills to temper the clay well, tables and well-made moulds to mould the bricks, well levelled ground to dry them on, and careful handling when going into the kiln, bricks can generally be made better and more economically than by the machine. It was only necessary to see the bricks made in this way in the Exhibition Yard by Natives from the Akra brick fields to be quite convinced on the subject; the bricks made in this way were of very superior quality, indeed equal to any English brick. The way in which they were manufactured shows very forcibly what can be done by Natives properly taught. They were digging the earth with spade, wheeling it in barrows on narrow planks, moulding standing up, and doing each work really well.

There were only two brick-pressing machines, one of iron and one of timber. The iron one by J. Whitehead is a very complete machine, and would be very useful to builders requiring smooth bricks, who will not take the trouble of pugging and moulding properly. The wooden press exhibited by Baboo Heeralall Seal is also a useful machine.

There was only one exhibitor of a straw or hay rick stand, Messrs. T. E. Thomson and Company. The stand was, however, a very useful one, light, easily erected, and of moderate cost.

There were only two grain-holders exhibited, but they also were cheap and useful articles.

There were three patterns of iron gates; they were all of very fair quality; that to which the prize was awarded is light, strong, and moderately priced.

There were several portable forges; that to which the prize was awarded is the fanblast. We think this the most compact and lasting arrangement for such forges.

The forge exhibited from the Shergotty bridge works is ingenious and useful; it is a modification of the Burmese box bellows. A set of tools of Native manufacture exhibited with it are creditable pieces of Native workmanship.

The various specimens of Native bellows and forges exhibited by the Rangoon Committee, though hardly portable, fairly came within this class; they and the collection of Burmese implements generally deserve especial mention; the variety and usefulness of the implements exhibited exceed those of any other Native collection.

On the whole we think the Exhibition in these Sections very promising for a first attempt. There was no doubt a want of exhibition of Native productions, but with the example of the present exhibition before them, and with proper instructions and encouragement when another is approaching, there is every reason to hope that a great improvement will be seen.

" E. HICKMOTT.

CLASS II—SECTION XII.

"For the best arrangement of Tea-rolling Machinery by Steam power," exhibited by Messrs. Mackey and Company, No. 482.

This implement, though very imperfect and tried under disadvantageous circumstances, is we conceive, a step in the right direction. We therefore award the prize more with a view to encourage the further development of the idea than for any positive merit we have been able to discover in the implement itself. It is the only one of the kind exhibited.

"The best Machine for sifting, sorting, and fanning the Tea," No. 483, exhibited by Messrs. Barry, Smith and Company.

2. This though simply a winnowing machine has power sufficient to effect the separation of the teas into different qualities without the aid of sieves, but requires further improvement to entirely supersede handsieving.

3. The machine exhibited by Dr. Barry under Section V., 183, Series 3F., combining the principle of winnowing and sieving, is worthy of high commendation. But although we consider it right in principle, it is so defective in adjustment and detail that we cannot award it a prize.

4. A tea-roasting machine exhibited by Messrs. Mackey and Company No. 492, Roasting being the least expensive part of manipulation, greater efficiency must be the object aimed at. Although failing to realize this condition, we consider that by a little more care in construction, and perhaps the addition of a wire brush to the spiral blade, this object might be attained; or it may be that a revolving cylinder on the principle of a coffee-roasting machine would answer the purpose.

5. For drying Tea—An ingenious model has been exhibited by Dr. Barry, which, if effective in practice, would greatly economise space and time. The principle is to force, at a greatly accelerated speed, heated carbonized air through the mass of tea, and the effect should certainly be to dry it more quickly, but whether more effectively, could only be determined by such a practical trial as the Judges regret they have been unable to give.

Before closing this Report we beg to draw attention to a Burmese implement for sifting flour, which, combining with simplicity of construction, a decided improvement on the hand sieve, realizes its peculiar action by mechanical contrivance, and by a proper arrangement of the sieves might be adapted to the separation of tea.

CLASS II.—SECTIONS XIII., XIV., AND XVIII.
Section XIII.—Steam Oil Mill and Machinery by Martin Samuelson and Company, Hall, exhibited by Dr. Barry.

This being the most complete and best oil mill exhibited, though not coming within the objects and requirements of the Exhibition, is entitled to "honorable mention" and to the prize named.

Section XIII., No. 506.—A Burmese oil mill well finished and complete of its kind, but apparently much the same as the oil mills at present used by the Natives of Bengal, entitled to "honorable mention."

Section XIII., No. 520.—Corn or flour mill, worked by Steam, suited for general use, but too expensive to be adapted to the objects and requirements of the Prize List, entitled to "honorable mention."

Section XVIII., No. 533.—Worked by hand or might be by bullocks, suitable for general use, but from its high price, does not meet the requirements of the Prize List.

There are also a variety of hand flour mills in Sections XIV. and XXI. priced from Rupees 90 to Rupees 225, in consequence of which they cannot be considered as meeting the objects of the Prize List, but entitled to "honorable mention."

We regret to say we have not been able to meet Mr. Sutherland, the gentleman appointed by the Committee to co-operate with us in examining the articles.

JOHN LAWRIE.

AGRICULTURAL GEAR AND HARNESS.

HAVING been requested by the Committee of the "Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals" to act on their behalf as Judge in the matter of the prize which the Society have offered for an improvement on the bullock's yoke now used in Bengal, I this forenoon, on receipt of a note from Mr. Crawford, visited the Agricultural Exhibition for the purpose of inspecting the competitive articles. My anticipation was that I should have had the advantage of acting in concert with yourself and the other gentlemen who form the Judges on implements, &c., in general, but I regretted to find that your visit was already over.

My duty is, of course, entirely confined to the question respecting the yoke, and the adjudgment or otherwise of the Society's prize, it having been understood that a Member of the Society's Committee should be one of the Judges; and I now beg permission to submit to you the impression which my inspection of the several articles and subsequent information have formed in my mind:

1st.—That none of the yokes or harness fully or immediately meet the object desired by the Society; and that I should not therefore be justified in recommending the award for them of the prize in question.

2nd.—That the padded collar, or rest, invented by Mr. Neilly, of Chandernagore, and the American yoke exhibited by Mr. Ladd, appeared to offer the greatest promise of utility, and are most valuable as suggestive of a principle of construction which may, by further adaptation or improvement, furnish the required desideratum.

3rd.—That in most other articles of mechanism exhibited on occasions of this kind, we have the advantage of seeing the perfect machinery or implements tested by work and application, but that in the matter of the bullock's yoke and harness, which are required to meet a variety of considerations or circumstances, and therefore peculiarly demand trial or practical illustration; this advantage has, of course, not been afforded.

4th.—That until consulting with Mr. Ladd (after my return from the Exhibition) and in the absence of explanations of the American yoke, I thought Mr. Neilly's invention, which removed the friction of the yoke from the neck of the bullock, gave the greatest promise of the object sought, but that under the assurance given me by Mr. Ladd, whose practical knowledge of these things lends so much weight and value to his opinion and advice, I have been led to doubt whether the heat generated by the pad, rendering the skin tender, may not be a serious drawback to its value; and on the other hand the application of the American yoke, or an adaptation of it, to the carts and cattle of Bengal requires, I think, trial to afford assurance that some medium between the wood and the skin of the animal is not needed to obtain the protection which is required.

Under these impressions I am led to the conclusion that the prize offered by the Society should remain open to future award until opportunity be afforded of judging of the merits of the implements exhibited, or of improvements upon them by experiment or trial.

In the interim I am sure the warmest acknowledgments of the Society are due to Mr. Ladd, to Messrs. Monteith and Company, and Mr. Neilly for the very valuable efforts made in the cause of humanity.

MINUTE.

When it was first proposed to hold an Agricultural Exhibition in Calcutta, and the Government of India was asked to give its approval to the undertaking, I stated that the advances to be made for the objects of the Exhibition would not exceed Rupees 50,000, and that the whole of this would probably be covered by the payments to be made by the public for admission. I added, however, that the object was one which, in my opinion, was of sufficient importance to justify the outlay of that sum.

2. The Government of India, considering the object to be deserving of cordial encouragement and support as one full of future benefit, accorded its prompt support and sanctioned the advances of Rupees 50,000 for the purposes of the Exhibition. The plan of the undertaking expanded considerably as the details of it came to be developed by the Central Committee, and instead of being confined, as was at first projected, to the Cattle, Produce, and Implements of Bengal, it came to embrace the Cattle and Produce and Implements of several other important Provinces of India, as well as Agricultural Machinery of an expensive and elaborate kind from Europe and America.

3. This extension of the plan of the Exhibition increased immeasurably both its attractiveness and its utility, but it added considerably to its expense. Nevertheless, owing to the generous contributions of the public, the avidity with which large numbers of every class of the community crowded to the Exhibition, and the good management of the Central Committee, although the expenditure amounted to Rupees 1,16,540, the receipts, including Rupees 14,700 of outstanding assets in course of realization,* have come to Rupees 86,627, leaving a balance of Rupees 29,918, or in round numbers Rupees 30,000, to be defrayed by the State. It will be seen from paragraph 82 of the Committee's Report that this excess of disbursements over receipts is due almost entirely to the expenditure necessary for setting up the large Machinery and providing steam-power to work it; while on the other hand paragraph 11 of the Report shows that the amount directly contributed by the public was considerably more than was anticipated.

4. When the results of the Exhibition, as detailed in the Central Committee's Report, in the Prize List, and in the Report of the Judges, are duly weighed—when it is considered how much more was accomplished than was originally designed—when the direct contributions of the public, amounting to Rupees 20,891, (besides the sum realized by the sale of tickets,) are taken into view—when it is borne in mind that a far larger expense than this must have been incurred by exhibitors and visitors, and that while Railway and Steam Navigation Companies carried passengers and goods free or at a reduced charge, many gentlemen, European and Native, official and private, gave their valuable time and services gratuitously, and exerted themselves in the most praiseworthy manner to forward the objects of the Exhibition—when we remember the great concourse of Native gentry from almost all parts of India, many of whom had never before left their homes, and to whom most of the principal articles exhibited, especially in the Machinery Department, were novel and instructive—and when we consider the benefits, economical, social, and political, which may be expected to ensue, nay which have ensued, from such a gathering of people brought together for the common purpose of aiding to promote the agriculture of the country,—I think it must be acknowledged that this comparatively small sum of three thousand pounds has been most profitably and beneficially, as it has been legitimately, expended.

5. The marked personal interest taken in the Exhibition by its Patron, the Viceroy, the part he took in the opening ceremony, and his frequent presence both in the yard and at the steam plough trials, afforded the highest encouragement to all, and contributed in a material degree to impress upon the minds of the Native Zemindars and other agriculturists the importance and reality of the occasion. I trust I may be permitted to express my grateful thanks to His Excellency, and also to the Members of His Excellency's Council and the Chief Justice, (the Vice-Patrons,) for their countenance and support.

6. From the Government of India generally; from the Governments of Madras, the Straits Settlements, and the North-Western Provinces; from the Chief Commissioners of Oude and British Burmah, and from His Highness the Maharajah of Travancore, the Central Committee received most valuable aid, which I desire very thankfully to acknowledge.

7. To the President and Members of the Central Committee, particularly those who took an active personal share in the direction and arrangement of the various Departments of the Show; to the Members of the several Local Committees both in Bengal and elsewhere, particularly those of Benares and Raugoon; to the Agricultural and Horticultural Society of Bengal; to the heads of Public Departments by whom assistance was rendered to the Central Committee; to the Railway and Steam Navigation Companies by whom articles and exhibitors were conveyed either free or on favorable terms to and from the Exhibition; to the Judges, to those, whether individuals or societies, who contributed prizes and other donations; to the exhibitors, especially those who imported valuable Steam and other Machinery from England for the purpose; and to the Executive Officers employed by the Committee, the thanks and congratulations of the Government are justly due. These I have already expressed in person, and now record.

8. Especially have these acknowledgments been deserved by the Honorary Secretaries, Messrs. J. A. Crawford and A. M. Dowleams, of whose indefatigable exertions and judicious management, in the midst of other engrossing official avocations, I cannot speak too highly. Mr. Dowleams' experience at the Great Exhibitions of 1851 and 1862 was of great value, and he applied it with ability and zeal to local circumstances.

9. If I allude to the defects of arrangement which the Central Committee candidly acknowledge in their Report, it is without the faintest intention of imputing blame, and solely with a view to point them out as beacons for the future. Considering the novel, experimental, and tentative character of the Exhibition; the expansion of its scope after the date for holding it had been fixed; the absence until a late period of any one who had practical knowledge of the details of such an undertaking; the difficulty of obtaining accurate and timely returns; the inattention of contributors and others to the rules laid down for their guidance, and the defective means of carriage and other appliances existing in the country, it may well be a matter of congratulation that these defects were so few and comparatively unimportant. Certain it is that they did not, in the estimation of the public, interfere with the perfect success of the Exhibition. Whatever mistaken impressions may have existed as to the intention with which the Exhibition was founded, and it must be admitted that these were at one time serious and disheartening, there can be no doubt that they are now entirely removed; that the Native community is now thoroughly satisfied as to the utility of such Exhibitions; that the attention of the Native Zemindars and gentry at large has been given, as it never was given before, to the concerns of practical agriculture, and that there prevails a very general desire that the Exhibition should be repeated and become as it were a permanent institution. I entertain no doubt whatever that when the proper time comes for holding another Exhibition of this kind, the experience now gained will enable those who may have the management of it to make it still more complete than the first, and that the support it receives from the Native public will be many fold greater than on this occasion. The valuable suggestions made in the last three paragraphs of the Committee's Report will then no doubt be duly borne in mind.

10. As one instance, among many, of the beneficial effects of the Exhibition, I may mention that I have lately received from a Native Zemindar of Bengal a proposal to establish an Agricultural College near Calcutta, together with the offer of a donation towards its permanent endowment.

11. The proceedings of the Central Committee are entirely approved and sanctioned.

12. The Reports of the Judges are of great value, and suggest important matter for the consideration of all who are interested in the improvement of the Live Stock and Agricultural Products of the country, in the adaptation of European Machinery to Indian agriculture, and in the construction of special Machinery suited to local wants. The Report on the steam plough trials possesses peculiar interest. It is much to be regretted that owing to the circumstances referred to in paragraph 18 of the Committee's Report the Reports of the Judges on Produce are less complete than they should have been.

13. The impression made upon my mind by the Exhibition itself, by the Reports of the Committee and of the Judges, and by such indications of general opinion as I have been able to gather, is, that in future it will be better to confine the objects of an Agricultural Show to Cattle and Produce, and that Agricultural Machinery and Implements would find a more proper place in a general Exhibition of industrial art.

14. A Cattle and Produce Show is necessarily one of short duration, the accommodation it requires is of a very temporary and inexpensive nature, and the arrangements it requires are simple. On the other hand Machinery, Implements, and industrial products require, for their proper reception and security, expensive and semi-permanent buildings and fittings, and may be exhibited to the best advantage for a considerably longer time. The Machinery Department of the late Exhibition suffered, and was of much less use both to exhibitors and to the public than it ought to have been, owing to the ephemeral character of the whole affair. It would have been impossible to keep the Live Stock together for more than a week, but a week was much too short a time for the Machinery to be seen and to produce its full effect on the public mind. Yet at the end of the first week, after the Live Stock had been dispersed, a general impression prevailed that the Exhibition was over, and though the Machinery remained on view for some days longer, very few people went to see it, except on the last day, when admission was absolutely free. It is obvious also that while great advantage would arise from having annual Shows for Cattle and Produce, there is a little to be gained by such frequent Exhibitions of Machinery and Implements.

15. Again, as regards Live Stock, the experience we have gained from the late Exhibition and from those held as subsidiary to it in several Districts, teaches us that Calcutta is much too distant from most parts of Bengal to answer as a place of annual Exhibition, and that while annual Shows in different parts of the country would be of infinite use in stimulating local improvement in the breeding and care of Cattle, and are indeed absolutely required for that purpose, a general Show once in three or four years at the Presidency would suffice for emulation and comparison among the breeders in all parts of Bengal and in other parts of India within reach.

16. The above remark applies in nearly an equal degree to cereals and other vegetable produce.

17. What, therefore, I propose is that Local Agricultural Shows for Live Stock and the products of agricultural labor should be held annually in different parts of the country. The primary object of each Show should be to encourage agriculture and the breeding of Cattle in the Divisions in which it might be held, but the produce of other Divisions should not be excluded. I would have one of these Shows every year in each Division, not always in the same District or in the same place, but in each District of the Division in rotation, and at such times and places as from time to time might be considered most suitable. It would probably be advantageous to connect these Shows with the great annual Fairs which are held at different places on stated days, and at which great numbers of people always congregate for purposes of trade. The management of these Shows should be under the general direction of the Commissioner of the Division, assisted by such gentlemen as might be associated with him for the purpose. For each Show I would give a grant of Rupees 3,000 for prizes, it being understood that the public would contribute at least an equal amount, and that eventually these Shows should be self-supporting. This would involve at first an annual expenditure of Rupees 30,000 for the promotion of agriculture in the ten Divisions of Bengal, a sum for which the object in view is far more than fully adequate, and the outlay of which will equally benefit the Government and the country at large. The recent orders of the Government of India on the Report of the Commisariat Commission suggest one important advantage to the public service, which the institution of annual local Cattle Shows and their due encouragement are likely, above all other means, to secure.

18. As a necessary complement of these annual Divisional Shows, I would have a Central Agricultural Show in Calcutta every three years, at the beginning of January for Live Stock and Agricultural Produce of every kind, and perhaps for simple Agricultural Implements, but not for Machinery. Ploughing matches, however, should form an essential part of the Show. These Central Shows would, I believe, be self-supporting from the outset. The first of them should be held on the 1st January 1867, and the local Shows of that season would be preparatory and subsidiary to it. If I am in India at that time, the ground at Alipore on which the recent Exhibition was held will be available for the purpose.

19. For Agricultural Machinery and all other products of industrial art an altogether different kind of Exhibition is required. For this a special building of ample dimensions must be erected, temporary indeed and removable, but substantial and capable of receiving large Machines to be worked by steam, and of providing room for all the fabrics and other products of industry and skill that may be collected, after due notice, not only in Bengal, or even in India, but from all parts of the world. An Exhibition of this kind should be opened about the 1st November, and should remain open for four months, so as to be on view during the whole of the cool season. The outlay for such a building and for other necessary preparations on a proper scale would no doubt exceed a lakh, or perhaps two lakhs of Rupees, and though a large proportion of this would certainly be recovered by the sale of tickets and the disposal of materials, I am not prepared to say that some part of the cost would not become a charge upon the Government. Still it is unquestionable that the country would derive vast benefit from such an Exhibition, and if the Government of India see no objection, I would propose that it take place in 1869-70, that is to say, in little more than five years from the present time, and that hereafter due notice should be given, and ample time afforded, both to exhibitors and to those who may have the management of the Exhibition, to make every preparation necessary to ensure success.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, Simla, under date the 4th June 1864.

CONSEQUENT.—His Excellency the Governor-General in Council considers that the Leave Rules do not debar Local Governments from permitting an Uncovenanted Servant, for good reasons, to be absent without pay and with forfeiture of the time for which he is absent, and allowing him on his return to resume charge of his appointment.

Municipal Loan.

NOTIFICATION.

THE Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and under the powers vested in them by Act VI. of 1863, B. C., are prepared to receive Tenders for Loans on Debentures for Twelve Lacs of Rupees, on the security of the Rates, Taxes, and Dues imposed and levied under the aforesaid Act, for the execution of works for drainage and for the general improvement of the Town of Calcutta.

2. The Debentures will have a currency of twenty years, be transferable by endorsement, and carry interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum from the 1st of January 1865, payable half-yearly, on the 30th June, and 31st December, at the Bank of Bengal.

3. The Loans are to be paid into the said Bank of Bengal in two instalments—that is, the first of forty per cent. on the 15th of September next, and the second of sixty per cent. on the 1st of November.

4. The Tenders are to be for the sum of Five Hundred Rupees, and multiples thereof, and are to be forwarded, sealed and superscribed "Municipal Loan," to the Secretary of the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta, at the Office, No. 1, Chowringhee Road, and will be received up to noon of the 31st August next.

5. Parties tendering must pay into the Bank of Bengal to the credit of the Justices of the Peace a sum equal to five per cent. of the amount tendered, the Bank receipt for which must accompany the Tender.

6. If the Tender be accepted, the deposit will be taken in part of the 1st instalment, but it will be forfeited if after acceptance of the Tender the balance of the first instalment be not paid on or before the date fixed for payment.

7. The deposit on Tenders which may not be accepted will be returned on application.

8. A Tender, however small, at a high rate will be accepted in preference to a Tender for a large amount at a lower rate; and in case of equality of Tenders above the amount required, a pro rata allotment will be made.

9. The Justices reserve to themselves the right of refusing all Tenders below a certain minimum rate, to be fixed by the Chairman, on the advice of the Finance Committee, at noon of the 31st August next, previous to the opening of the Tenders.

10. The Tenders will be opened on the 31st August, at one o'clock P. M., in the presence of the Chairman, and of not less than three Members of the Finance Committee.

11. Scrip receipts will be granted to the parties whose Tenders may be accepted for each instalment as paid in, and Debentures will be issued in exchange for the Scrip fifteen days after payment of the last instalment.

The objects of the above work are to provide accommodation for vessels now using the deep water of the River at Moorings by constructing floating Docks at Garden Reach and Kidderpore, in the Twenty-four Pergunnahs, and the boundaries of such Docks are intended to be as follows:—On the North by Tolly's Nullah; on the West by the River Hooghly and land belonging to the Secretary of State for India in Council and the India General Steam Navigation Company Limited; on the South by land in the occupation of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company; and on the East by the Jheel known as the Jheel Jheel and land and premises belonging to Mr. Voss and others; or on the East by the Jheel; on the West partly by the Public Highway leading from Calcutta to Garden Reach, by the River Hooghly, and land belonging to the said Secretary of State; on the East by the Public Highway called the Circular Garden Reach Road; and on the South by land and premises belonging to Gobin Chunder Bannerjee and others.

It is also intended to construct a River Embankment and continuous Wharf frontage between Chandpaul Ghât and Clive Street Ghât, in Calcutta.

The estimated cost of the construction of the above works is one million Pounds Sterling.

The Promoters have formed a Company in England for the purpose of providing the necessary funds for constructing the said Docks and Wharfe, and it is proposed such Company should be authorized to levy tolls in such manner as shall, on agreement, be fixed by Government upon vessels entering the Port, and goods landed.
